U. N. Condemns Red Atrocities In Korean War

By Francis W. Carpenter

United Nations, N. Y., (AP)—The U. N. Assembly yesterday approved an American-backed resolution condemning atrocities by any government and expressing "grave concern" at reports of Red atrocities in Korea. The Russians protested with cries of "fake" and "libel."

The final vote was 42-5 with only the Russian bloc opposing the resolution. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, said the verdict proved true the American charges that Communist Chinese and North Koreans, acting on a conscious policy laid down by the Communists, tortured or killed 38,000 U. N. sodiers and Korean civilians.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, made a further assault on the American case after the vote. He denounced it as "a falsification, a fake and utterly spurious." He assailed the resolution as libelous and hypocritical.

Lodge rushed the charges to the U. N. Assembly in late October following the demands of members of Congress for the delegation to do something about the tale of horror and death released in Washington by the Pentagon. The Americans have been canvassing thoroughly for support and they watched the vote closely at the end of three days of tense debate.

"I, JESSE S. FLORY . . ." begins the new burgess of East Stroudsburg as he follows the words of President Judge Fred W. Davis yesterday in the judge's chambers at the Courthouse. Watching was Flory's entire family. Flory was appointed by council to fill the unexpired portion of the term left vacant by LeRoy J. Kleinle who resigned. The simple ceremony took about 10 minutes. 90 Refuse Repatriation

Panmunjom, Friday (AP)—South Korean officers raced through the third day of explanations today to countrymen who chose communism. They failed to win back a single war prisoner.

In the three days, 90 captives now in neutral custody have refused to return to South Korea.

The explainers abandoned the emotional appeals they used on the first two days, the recordings of stirring patriotic songs and rich folk music and the voices of families of the prisoners.

As a result, interviews were completed in the forenoon for the first time and the Allies asked for 40 instead of 30 prisoners in tomorrow's group. But an Indian spokesman said the request was made too late.

Officers read four-minute statements telling the prisoners they had freedom of choice and reminded them that this was their last chance to go home.

The interviews operation moved so fast today one American officer observer quipped "This sounds like a barbershop—all you hear is the explainers calling 'Next!' "

Three Women Cooperating In Medical Study

Iowa City, (AP)—Three women who have become pregnant through the use of frozen semen in an experiment destined to make medical history are scheduled to give birth at university hospitals here during the next three months.

The first birth is due in a few weeks and the other babies are expected in January and February.

The three expectant mothers cooperated in a study conducted by Dr. R. G. Bunge of the state University of Iowa Medical School and his research associate, J. K. Sherman. All three are women who failed to achieve motherhood through their marriages. Their names have been withheld.

Dr. Bunge said the women, all out-patients of university hospitals, are in good health and "the progress of the fetuses is satisfactory."

Four Feared Killed

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — A B47 Stratojet from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base with four men aboard burst into flames and crashed late yesterday in the Rincon Mountains, 25 miles east of Tucson. All apparently perished.

Hunter Missed

Clearfield, (AP)—Hugh W. Long, 54, of Radford, Va., is missing in the heavily wooded area about 15 miles north of here where he and three other Virginians were deer hunting.

Daily Record Offers Annual Yule Edition

Today's pictorial Christmas edition of The Daily Record has been designed to acquaint area shoppers with the wealth of Yule presents available in stores of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and surrounding towns.

Merchants of both boroughs last night pointed out the advancement of parking meter facilities in the communities to meet the increased demands, and noted that many sections only a few blocks from the heart of the business districts, contain ample space for parking.

They have urged out-of-town shoppers to investigate these areas in the event parking lots are at an overflow, pointing out that many sections are open to parking.

Merchants also contemplate extra-hours for Christmas shoppers. In both communities most stores will remain open nightly until 9 beginning Dec. 16, closing Christmas Eve at 5:30 p.m.

Woodside Is 'Available' For Governor

Philadelphia (AP)—Gubernatorial politics was boiling yesterday on both sides of the party fence.

Republicans had at least one candidate willing to seek the state's highest office next year. Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside told a reporter "If I could be the means of bringing the party together, I would feel it my duty to run."

Democrats scheduled a meeting of the top-level state policy committee here a week from today. Officially, the Dec. 11 parley will discuss "strategy" for the 1954 elections but leaders conceded that could hardly be done without some discussion of candidates. How far that discussion might go was not indicated.

Woodside's comment was prompted in inquiries about a Lancaster newspaper story that Gov. John S. Fine and Sen. James H. Duff had "agreed" to back him as a harmony candidate.

The Millersburg jurist said he didn't know anything about that report. But when pressed for his views in the situation, he conceded he could be available.

The reported Fne-Duff agreement on Woodside ran into a couple of negatives. A Duff aide in Washington said flatly "There is nothing to it," and added that he does not believe Duff and Fine have talked politics since the 1952 Republican convention.

Police Unable To Fill Request

Newark, N. J. (AP)—Police, accustomed to receiving strange requests at times, were stumped Wednesday.

A 6-year-old visitor to headquarters toured the place, looked in all the rooms—and then asked to see a murder.

Tornado Kills Nine Persons In Central Louisiana Towns

Alexandria, La., (AP)—A tornado bounced across central Louisiana killing nine persons early yesterday.

Another 20 were injured in Louisiana, and 14 injured in Mississippi when an early morning storm struck a rural area.

Homes and barns were ripped to firewood.

The Red Cross sent nurses and disaster workers into the central Louisiana area.

Seven died at Leander, 25 miles southwest of Alexandria.

Two babies were killed when the tornado ripped through Tullos, 40 miles northeast of Alexandria.

The Mississippi storm hit in the delta country north of Vicksburg, about 150 miles northeast of Alexandria.

The Mississippi storm was in the path of the northeasterly arc of the tornado but was not identified definitely as a tornado.

At Leander, a critically injured mother sat in the wreckage of her home, swaying to and fro with her baby son in her arms. Her husband lay nearby.

She was rushed to a hospital, still not knowing that baby and husband were dead.

At Paradise, four highway workers sleeping in a trailer were carried on a wild 100-yard ride by the raging winds but escaped with minor injuries.

A short time after the tornado hit Louisiana ,a storm struck the area around Fitler, Miss., in the Mississippi River delta north of Vicksburg. Fourteen persons were reported injured, at least one seriously.

Victim Of Rare Disease Dies

Summerville, Ga. (AP) — Evelyn Smith, 18-year-old Lyerly, Ga., victim of a rare blood disease who received 352 blood transfusions in the past three years, died Wednesday.

The hospital here said 266 of the transfusions were given the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Smith since Feb. 6.

Siamese Twin Dies After Rare Surgery

London, (AP)—Tomunotanye and Wariboko Davies, 3-months-old Siamese twin Negro girls from Nigeria, were separated successfully in a London hospital yesterday, but Tomunotanye died three hours later.

Her curly haired sister was reported in good shape last night and sleeping peacefully in a specially designed oxygen tent.

They had been joined across their abdomens and chests.

In the dialect of their West African homeland, Tomunotanye means "The Will of God." Wariboko means "She who will bring her parents greatness."

The parents are Victor Davies, a Bantu clerk, and his wife Veronica, a sales assistant in a store of Kanu, Nigeria. The 24-year-old mother kissed the children before they went under the anesthetic at Hammersmith Hospital, and knelt in prayer in a white-walled room as surgeons went to work in the operating theater.

"Thank God," she exclaimed, when notified the delicate surgery had been completed.

Asks Friends To Write In To President

By Roger D. Greene

Washington (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), disowning any idea of challenging President Eisenhower's leadership, called yesterday for a nationwide "Write the President" campaign designed to reverse one phase of Eisenhower foreign policy.

Speaking out within 24 hours after Eisenhower warned against "coercion" of America's allies, McCarthy requested all who agree with his views to write or wire the President asking him to halt what McCarthy termed the "blood trade" with Red China.

McCarthy said he is in "complete disagreement" with Secretary of State Dulles on the question of continued aid to countries trading with the Chinese Communists.

Dulles' stand, as set forth at his news conference on Tuesday, is that U. S. dollar aid to friendly nations "does not give us the right to dictate their trade policies."

The President backed Dulles to the hilt as his own news conference Wednesday and cautioned that "the easiest thing to do with great power is to abuse it."

McCarthy's statement was made about 10:45 a.m. yesterday. The White House said that as of 4 p.m. it had received nine telegrams in response to the senator's write-in appeal, all of them backing McCarthy's views.

At 8:30 p.m., Murray Snyder, the President's assistant press secretary, said that up to that time about 120 telegrams had been received.

Asked if they all supported McCarthy's stand, Snyder said:

"No, they are not all one way by any means, but we will have to wait until tomorrow to get a breakdown."

No further count of telegrams was announced last night.

There was no comment from the President.

Reacting to double-barreled rebuffs from the President and Dulles, McCarthy issued a 600-word statement in which he:

One—Scoffed at suggestions that he was challenging Eisenhower's party leadership. "Ridiculous and untrue," he said.

Two—Refused to retreat an inch from the previous stands with which the administration disagreed.

Three—Called on Dulles to "reappraise our whole policy" toward allies trading with Red China.

Youth Admits Wounding Hunter

Scranton (AP) — Jessup Police Chief Joseph Sewack said yesterday a 15-year-old boy admitted he accidentally discharged the rifle that seriously wounded Eugene Parlanti, 15, while he was hunting in the woods yesterday.

Parlanti's condition was described as "fair" in Mid-Valley Hospital.

Sewack said companions of Parlanti first told police the youth was shot by an unknown hunter. But yesterday the chief said Joseph Talerico admitted he fired the shot and related they invented the story about the unknown hunter because they feared "they would get into trouble."

Ladner Assails Proposed 'Giveaway' Of River Water; Plan Provides Bushkill Dam

Philadelphia, (AP)—Former State Supreme Court Justice Grover C. Ladner yesterday assailed a compromise proposal for three-state division of Delaware River water as a "giveaway" of Pennsylvania's precious resources.

The plan would permit New York to increase withdrawals of water from the Delaware from 440 million gallons daily to 800 million. A special session of the New Jersey State Legislature is expected to act on the proposal today.

Ladner attacked the agreement as a "serious threat to the future development of the Delaware Valley as an industrial and residential center."

Main points of the compromise bill, which New Jersey State Sen. Alfred B. Littell will introduce in the Legislature today:

Pennsylvania may construct a dam across the river at Wallpack Bend, Bushkill, Pike County, near the Sussex County, New Jersey, border. The dam would catch flood waters and release them at times of low water in the Summer.

If New Jersey decides to chip in on the cost, it may have some of the water from a reservoir in back of the dam.

Pennsylvania will pay for any New Jersey land needed to build the dam.

The New Jersey law will be effective only if the Pennsylvania Legislature acts before July 1, 1955.

The New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development will be in charge of procedures under the law.

The bill also will allow New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey to formalize an agreement permitting New York to construct a big reservoir at Cannonsville, just northeast of the Pennsylvania corner.

Big Three Conference Set To Get Under Way Today With Eisenhower's Arrival

Tucker's Town, Bermuda, (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Laniel separately lined up arguments yesterday to convince President Eisenhower on policies they believe the Allies should follow to promote a new phase in East-West relations.

A closer alignment of Western aims and actions clearly is the goal of each of the Big Three, who will open what may prove to be a historic parley on this British island colony in the Atlantic late today.

The United States, for instance, would like the talks to spur the West's lagging buildup against any threat of further Communist aggression.

The changing international scene has led Britain to believe closer coordination of Allied policies in Asia is essential immedately. As a by-product, the British would like to have future plans for the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization reviewed in the light of what they consider has been a relaxation of Communist military pressure in Europe.

France is concerned particularly about Indochina and the projected rearming of West Germans in the six-nation European Defense Community. She wants a settlement of the French-German dispute over The Saar, full approval of special French conditions to membership in the EDC, and long-term pledges from Britain and the United States of military support on the continent.

The Western Big Three foreign ministers—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, Anthony Eden of Britain and Georges Bidault of France—

Bogart Named Supervisor Of Gap Bridge

Maurice Bogart of Bethlehem has been named superintendent of the new Delaware Water Gap bridge.

Announcement was made last night by Alex R. Miller, chairman of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

Miller said the superintendent of the new bridge at Milford is John Blair, former contracting engineer who supervised construction of the bridge.

Serving as superintendent of the Portland bridge is James Drury, of Johnsonville.

6,000 Coal Miners Strike

Lansford (AP)—Six thousand anthracite miners refused to work in the Panther Creek Valley hard coal pits yesterday in a sympathy walkout supporting the strike at the Nesquehoning Colliery Wednesday.

The Nesquehoning walkout followed a union meeting in which members of the United Mine Workers union voted to protest plans of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. to shut the colliery.

Lehigh coal spokesmen declined comment.

The Panther Valley General Mine Committee, a group composed of UMW representatives from locals in the region, voted to support the Nesquehoning action. No formal strike vote was taken.

Storm Leaves Snowdrifts As High As 10 Feet

(By The Associated Press)

A blinding snowstorm swirled over parts of Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado yesterday, leaving drifts 10 feet high in some sections. Two airmen and a hunter were lost in eastern Colorado and search planes were flying.

The wind-whipped snow forced a highway scraper to abandon efforts to clear U.S. Highway 24 near Colby, in extreme northwest Kansas. An eastbound bus was stranded and its passengers removed to a Colby hotel. Schools were dismissed there.

Snow plows were clearing railway tracks for Rock Island trains but they were running late across northern Kansas.

There was at least 10 inches of snow across the western two-thirds of Nebraska.

18,000 Deer Killed

Charleston, W. Va., (AP)—West Virginia hunters brought down 17,891 deer during the three-day hunting season ended Wednesday.

To Eliminate Effort Mt. Bottleneck

Plans are now under way to turn Route 115 over Effort Mountain into a three-lane highway.

According to a letter received here yesterday by State Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, Stroudsburg, from the Pennsylvania State Department of Highways, bids will be advertised for and received for work contracts on Dec. 21.

What the proposal amounts to, in effect, Sen. Crowe said last night, is that the State department is moving toward "rebuilding Effort Mountain road and turning it into a three-lane highway."

Work on the project, Sen. Crowe estimated, would not begin before Spring of 1954, since bids will not be received until next month.

The letter, received by Sen. Crowe stated, in part:

"The Pennsylvania Department of Highways will advertise and receive bids on Monday, Dec. 21, for the project on Legislative Route 45049, Section Four, traffic route 115 (in) Chestnuthill, Tunkhannock, and Tobyhanna Townships, Monroe County . . ."

"The length of this project is 16.75 miles. Construction consists of widening the existing pavement with a flexible base and bituminous surface . . . and the extension of an existing concrete-reinforced arch bridge and six reinforced concrete bridges . . . replacing the existing bridge floor with plain concrete wearing surface."

The project includes a stretch of highway over Effort Mountain which, during past years, has constituted a serious bottleneck to traffic moving from and toward the Wilkes-Barre region over Route 115.

A major portion of Route 115 from Effort Mountain area on into the Wilkes-Barre industrial section is now a three-lane traffic artery.

U.S. Sets Up Panel To Help Settle Strike

New York (AP) — A federal mediator last night reported "no progress" toward settling New York City's six-day-old newspaper strike. Further negotiations were adjourned until today.

The report was issued by Federal Mediator Walter A. Maggiolo following 2½ hours of fruitless talks.

There was no comment on the situation from officials of the AFL Photo-Engravers Union, whose strike shut down the newspapers, or from employers' representatives.

Yesterday's discussions followed a federal government attempt to help end the walkout by setting up a special three-man mediation panel.

The panel went to work immediately, but its first efforts were to no avail.

The strike of 400 AFL photo-engravers went into its sixth day, with 5½ million regular readers denied a single major New York daily for the first time in history.

Major radio and television stations reported money rolling in from advertisers, denied their usual newspaper space and scrambling madly to place their advertising message on the airlanes.

Nevertheless, retail sales reportedly were slumping and merchants loaded down with Christmas wares were frankly upset over the continuance of the strike.

Jurist Rules On Hazards Of Low-Cut Gowns

London, (AP)—A judge yesterday ruled that a woman who exposes herself in low-cut strapless evening gown must accept the hazards—and pay the dressmaker.

What's more, Judge Wilfred Clother further ruled in Lambeth County Court, the buyer of the dress must be prepared to put up with a considerable amount of discomfort and even support the bodice by hand, if necessary.

The judge made his observations in ruling against two women who had strapless gowns made for them to wear at a wedding where they were matrons of honor. The dressmaker sued for payment. The two women counter-claimed for damages contending the gowns were not properly made.

Torture Victim's Mate Flies Home

Holbrook, Ariz. (AP) — With dreams of a new life in California for his family shattered by the torture killing of his wife, Raymond Allen, 25, flew home to Wattsburg, Pa., last night with his 10-month-old son.

County Atty. Melvin Shelley said he was preparing first degree murder charges against Carl J. Folk, husky 60-year-old carnival owner from Clovis, N. M. Folk was shot and wounded by Allen after the attack on Mrs. Allen and has refused to answer questions by officers.

'It's Wonderful To Find Real Man,' Rich Widow Asserts As Wedding To Dempsey Nears

New York (AP) — Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing king, and Mrs. Estelle Auguste, a rich, pretty widow, said yesterday they'll soon be married.

The date hasn't been set, but they said it would be sometime before Christmas. It'll be the fourth marriage for Dempsey, 58, and the third for Mrs. Auguste, 42, of Palm Beach, Fla.

"I really think it's wonderful to at last find a real man," said Mrs. Auguste, a vivacious, blue-eyed blonde. "In my orbit, I've met so few of them."

"She's a wonderful girl," Dempsey said. "I'm not the easiest guy in the world to get along with and I know it, but I really hope this works out and I'm sure it will."

Mrs. Auguste is the widow of H. Spencer Auguste, founder of the Commercial Investment Trust and executive of the May Co., died four years ago, leaving her a reported 45 million dollars.

She wouldn't say if this was an accurate estimate of her fortune.

"It's not a nice question," she demurred, smiling. But she added it was a rare pleasure to find a man who wasn't a fortune hunter.

"When most men kiss my hand," she said, "I feel they're looking at my ring to see how many carats it has. It's so wonderful to find a real he-man and his record proves he's a real family man, too.

"I think family life is the most important thing in the world. I'm not interested in nightclubbing and that sort of thing, and Jack's not either."

Dempsey, presently associated with a Chicago radio-television school, an advertising firm here and who has been doing some sports refereeing, said marriage means he'll have to stop moving around so much.

"But I've been busy all my life and I'm going to stay that way," he said. "I've still got to make money regardless of what she has. That has nothing to do with me."

Mrs. Auguste, who said she recently got a medical degree in Geneva, Switzerland, said she has been doing research at hospitals there and in Palm Beach on mental disorders.

"I'm going to continue my work," she said. "I pinned Jack down on that before we decided to marry, and he agreed I could. Isn't that right, Jack?"

"Why not?" Dempsey answered. "I want you to do what you want to do. I think it's a grand thing and you're doing something for humanity."

The couple said they were introduced by her late husband about 10 years ago in Palm Beach, while Dempsey was vacationing there. He said he had known her husband for years before meeting Mrs. Auguste.

"He once told me that if the time ever came when he wasn't around, he wanted me to take care of her," he said.

Santa Claus On Street Corners--Since 1865, Salvation Army Workers Have Been On Job

By Grover Brinkman
(Central Press Correspondent)

New York—Times have changed since a small group of marching evangelists in London's east side started a movement that was later called "Christianity in action," back in 1865. They sang hymns on street corners, started helping the down-and-out. Soon the name, Salvation Army, began to be heard.

Today "the Army" has grown into a powerful wide-spread religious and welfare organization that adjusts its work to fit the problems of humanity all over the world. However, it is still an army of peace, and its spiritual purpose is paramount.

Its officers and soldiers, with hearts dedicated to God, and hands held out to mankind, carry on their services not as the doling out of alms, but as practical Christians at work. Through these services, the erring, the bewildered, the unfortunate, are restored to their proper relationship with God and fellow man. In every corner of the world you will find the Salvation Army.

Street scene, any American city—the Salvation Army.

As the holiday season approaches, we will again hear the strains of music over the noise of the crowds, and see the blue-coated men and women, the red kettles, and the tinkling bells.

Behind this street corner scene lies a story unknown to many, and usually surprising in its scope. For out of these red kettles will come Christmas joy for many who otherwise would have no celebration at all. The aged and friendless, the underprivileged children, the ill, the patients in veterans' hospitals, inmates of prisons—all of these will be remembered. Generally, the remembrance is the difference between happiness and misery.

Here are some interesting figures from the S. A. files: This year, as a result of the kettle drive, 500,000 U. S. needy will receive assistance or gifts. Another 450,000 will sit down to Christmas dinners given to them by the Salvation Army — and 600,000 children will open their eyes on Christmas morning to see that, once more, Santa has come.

However, don't get the wrong idea. The S. A. helps all through the year—not just at Christmas. Across the United States is a network of 1,800 centers, carrying on a staggering welfare program. Among them are homes, hospitals, nurseries, rehabilitation centers, boys' clubs, camps and service men's clubs.

Long ago the Salvation Army realized that, although its purpose is evangelical, it isn't easy to talk of spiritual matters to a man with an empty stomach, or blue with cold.

Another tenet of "the Army" is the belief that self-respect is more quickly restored in a person through self-help. So in their social service centers men work at many tasks and many of them who enter as down-an-outers soon go back into the world as self-supporting individuals.

Years ago the Salvation Army adopted a slogan: "A man may be down but he is never out." And its men and women practice what they preach, in prisons and penal institutions all over the land.

An atmosphere of understanding and kindness fills the 34 hospitals in the United States where "the Army" cares for unwed mothers and their babies. In its neighborhood centers, "the Army" provides a chance for children to enjoy the things which belong to childhood.

The Salvation Army seeks always to provide a "church for those who have no church." The sidewalk meetings, which usually precede these services, are a practical means of taking the gospel to those who need it where they are.

Since the start of World War I, the work of the Salvation Army with our armed forces has been traditional, as any doughboy will testify. Today's inductees, passing through stations on their way to camp, find the "Other Army" there with coffee and the proverbial doughnuts, gum, candy and such useful items as combs, handkerchiefs and postal cards. The Salvation Army is also a participating agency of the USO.

Even the men behind the bars are not forgotten by "the Army."

Three Plays Presented By Junior High

A festival of three plays was presented last night by East Stroudsburg Junior High School students in the school auditorium.

Each play was cast, directed and rehearsed separately for presentation on the full-length program. A variety of themes was treated in the three one-act plays, each directed by a different school faculty member.

The plays, their casts and directors, were as follows:

"Christmas Trees For Sale," directed by Miss Marie Nelson with Patricia Muth, Horace Cole, Bruce Noyes, John Burrus, Sue Masters and Joyce Weist in the cast.

"A Bunch of Keys," directed by Earl Miller, with Terry Siptroth, Ellen Mazer, Evelyn Martz, John Austin, Delia Stauffer and Sam Ciofalo cast in roles.

"Husbands Are Human," directed by Robert Neyhart, with Barbara Altier, Joan Coffman, Alice Burrows, Jean Dougherty, Melania Rushin and Barbara Cyr in the cast.

Publicity for the presentation was handled by Mrs. Melva Reid assisted by other faculty members and students.

Transcript Of Pinebrook Hearing Filed

Rev. Percy Crawford testified he receives a $6,000 annual salary from Pinebrook Foundation Inc., according to transcript of a Nov. 18 hearing which was filed yesterday at the courthouse.

The morning hearing before President Judge Fred W. Davis was a resumption of the equity case filed by Pinebrook, as plaintiff, against former commissioners Granville Shiffer, Willard Quick and H. D. Kresge; Loren Fabel, Stroud Township tax collector; and Harold N. Bush, assessor for that district.

The action was filed several years ago by the foundation on the grounds that it was a charitable or non-profit institution. On this basis it was entitled to exoneration from paying taxes, the foundation argued.

The exemption claimed was for the foundation in its entirety.

The foundation, which operates three camps a short distance north of Stroudsburg on Route 90, last paid taxes in 1947, according to tax collector Fabel.

Until 1947 the camp properties had been listed under the name of Percy Crawford. That year they were declared to come under the holdings of the foundation, and no more taxes were paid.

Fabel said he continues to send out a tax notice each year, but that it is returned unpaid.

Taxes for the years 1948 through 1951 were about $1,000 a year; 1952 taxes were about $1,200; and for 1953, about $1,800, according to the district tax collector. This means taxes totaling about $7,000 remain unpaid by the foundation.

The 1953 property assessment on the camp properties is more than $30,000, the tax collector said.

At the hearing Arlington W. Williams, Stroudsburg, represented the foundation, and James T. Kitson represented the county.

There were two witnesses: Mr. Crawford and Alexander O. Dunlap, Haverford Township real estate agent who is one of the three directors of the foundation. (The other two are Mr. and Mrs. Crawford.)

Dunlap testified he had been a board member for "three to five years." He said he didn't know whether he was on the board of directors or board of trustees, but had always referred to it simply as "the board." He testified he did not know whether or not he is a "a member of the corporation."

Income of the corporation comes from a weekly rate of $20 (average) paid by guests at the Pinebrook camps, and from voluntary contributions, said Dunlap.

Mr. Crawford testified the primary sources of income for the corporation were: funds from the "young people who come to the camp—boys' camp, girls' camp or young peoples' camp; and $10,000 to $12,000 a year from some 500 to 1,000 contributors.

Mr. Crawford said the rate for campers was $20 a week, with 10 per cent off if they signed up for 10 or 11 weeks.

Referring to disbursements by the corporation for 1948 through 1950, the operator was asked if the figure included wages paid to him.

"Yes . . . $4,000 a year wages," Mr. Crawford responded.

"Wasn't it at one time $6,000 a year?" Mr. Kitson asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. Crawford. "My present salary is $6,000 a year."

The preacher testified his three main activities are concerned with Pinebrook Foundation; Young Peoples' Church of the Air; and Kings College in Wilmington, Del. All are separate corporations. Mr. Crawford said he does not receive "a salary" from Young Peoples' Church of the Air or from Kings College, of which he is president and operator, and which is attended by 300 full-time students.

"Is this your only source of income, this $6,000?" Kitson cross-examined.

"That is not my only source of income, no," the preacher answered.

The foundation entered exhibits stating the assets and liabilities for "Pinebrook Bible Conference for Young People" and the corporation's receipts and disbursements for the years 1948, 1949 and 1950.

In 1948 gross income was listed as $111,072.58; total expenses were $109,774.55 . . . leaving net income of $10,298.03.

Expenses were listed as: wages $16,592.48; speakers, $7,701.04; merchandise, by checks, $75,762.57; merchandise, by cash, $718.46.

Receipts were listed as: camp fees, $67,050; candy store, $7,715.09; book store rental, $1,432.94; miscellaneous, $27,173.51; horses, weekenders, recreation fees, offerings, YPCA, $7,701.04.

Assets were listed as $124,606.20; liabilities as $97,371.88; leaving an equity of $27,234.32.

For 1949, income of $131,466.09 exceeded expenses by $456.77, the statement said.

Expenses were listed as: wages $19,802; speakers $5,980; merchandise, by checks, $91,223.38; merchandise, by cash, $14,003.94.

Income was listed as: camp fees $112,271.64; candy store $10,148.45; book store rental $1,371; horses $360; weekenders $1,272; recreation $63; offerings, YPCA, $5,980.

Assets of $123,891.09 exceeded liabilities by $27,691.09.

In the year 1950 income of $158,891.63 was exceeded by expenses by $364.47, according to the statement.

Expenses were shown as: "wages, talent, etc." $24,817; speakers $7,505; and merchandise $126,934.10.

Income was listed as: camp fees $134,128.87; candy store $9,843.07; book store rental $2,022.99; miscellaneous $92; horses $385; weekenders, meals $1,242; recreation $583; offerings $10,594.70.

Assets of $124,526.62 for 1950 exceeded liabilities by $27,326.62, the statement said.

Lackawanna Railroad Ad In Journal Publicizes Area As Ideal For New Industry

Potential location of new industry in this area received a big advertising boost on Nov. 30 in New York's Wall Street Journal.

On Monday, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad ran a quarter-page ad in the Journal calling attention to the Stroudsburgs as an ideal location for new industrial development.

The Lackawanna—which is the only railway directly serving this area—reproduced an aerial view of the twin boroughs.

In its advertisement on behalf of the area, the Lackawanna noted that there are "200 acres ideally located for industry" in the Stroudsburgs.

The "ad" is similar to others run intermittently by business institutions serving specific areas in the Journal and business magazines.

W. H. Pearsol Found Dead; Operated Phone Company

Kunkletown—One of this community's best-known residents was found dead at 11:30 a. m. yesterday.

Wesley Herbert Pearsol, 68, president and main owner of Blue Ridge Telephone Co., and former postmaster here, succumbed about 9:30 a. m. from a bullet wound in the right temple, according to Dr. Thomas Williams, of Gilbert, acting as Monroe County coroner in the absence of Dr. W. E. Andrew.

Dr. Williams said death was self-inflicted. He pronounced Pearsol dead at 12:20 p. m. Mr. Pearsol was reported despondent for the past week.

Mr. Pearsol's son, Wesley Jr. spent the night with him, then left early in the morning to cover his mail route. Members of the family said they thought they heard a thud about 9:30, but attributed it to blasting from a nearby sand quarry.

About 11:30, Mrs. Sadie Bollinger, housekeeper for Mr. Pearsol, found him lying on the bedroom floor.

A life-long resident heer, Mr. Pearsol owned the general store started by his father and operated the telephone company which also was launched by his father. He retired last year as postmaster, after 35 years service.

His wife, Mrs. Sarah Pearsol, died just a year ago Wednesday. Survivors include three children: Wesley Herbert Jr., Miss Mae Pearsol and Mrs. Helen Andrews, all of this village; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Pearsol was a member of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church and held offices, including that of elder, for many years.

He was the son of the late James F. and Sophia Borger Pearsol.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at St. Matthew's Church with Rev. Adan Bohner officiating. Burial will be at Kunkletown Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Sunday and on Monday from 12:30 p.m. until the start of services, at the church.

Meeting Postponed

A scheduled meeting of the Monroe County softball League on Monday, at the Eagles Club, has been postponed until Tuesday, at 8 p.m. The meeting was postponed because of the Stroudsburg Poconos-Grand Theater basketball game at Stroudsburg High.

2,050 Vehicles Used Bridge Free Of Toll

Portland—Over 2,000 vehicles crossed the new $4,500,000 Delaware River bridge here during the 12 hours it was toll-free, Alexander R. Miller, chairman of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, announced last night. Exact number of cars passing through the gates was 2,050.

At midnight Tuesday, the toll charge of 25 cents for passenger cars, excepting local holders of five-cent commutation tickets, and higher amounts for trucks went into effect.

First truck across the bridge under toll was driven by Robert Landy, Middleburg, Pa., and the first passenger car was operated by H. J. Holcombe, 16 Dodd St., East Orange, N. J. Both were traveling east, from Pennsylvania into New Jersey.

In the first 24 hours under toll, 307 vehicles paid the levy to cross the 1,300-feet structure. It is understood this figure was higher than normally contemplated, since the Route 46 free bridge just south of here still is open to traffic, awaiting the Dec. 10 decision of the U. S. District Court in Trenton, N. J.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church will hold their annual Christmas party at the parish house on Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller and Mrs. Maude Bush, of this place, and Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, of Arlington Heights, were Thanksgiving Day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Evans, of Bethlehem. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grebs and family, of Bethlehem, were also present.

Two local couples recently celebrated their 16th wedding anniversaries: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunbar, on Nov. 16, and Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller, on Nov. 25.

Rev. John B. Bergstresser's sermon topic Sunday was "Message For Thanksgiving," at St. John's Lutheran Church. Bulletins were sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Possinger in memory of Mrs. Possinger's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Setzer. Following the devotional service Rev. Bergstresser spoke to the congregation concerning their benevolence quota. Rev. Bergstresser also announced that he would like to have the names and addreses of all men and women from the Hamilton Lutheran parish who are in the armed services and a special Christmas message will be sent to them.

Call It Treason

For so many years we have been informed that gentlemen prefer blondes, as song and story insist, that we find disturbing the recent news from the eminent Dr. Gallup: the average American man really prefers brunettes.

This shocking intelligence, is going to cause no end of difficulty across the land. Anita Loos, original instrument for the distribution of the information about the male predilection for blondes, is going to be mighty upset and were it not for the fact that her weighty tome has long since run its course as a best seller, might be expected to take legal action against the man who would destroy her legend.

It has been so long since we gave diligent study to the volume authored by Miss Loos that we are not prepared at this time to take sides, but we would imagine that many a script writer and more particularly those who furnish the gags for radio, television and night club comics will be very put out about the radical switch.

This global news must steal the limelight from the Bermuda conference, the potential Four Power parley, and such elements in the day's news, for we can imagine no better takeoff for an argument than to quote the Gallup discovery.

Bermuda

All the other issues which logically would have a place in a conference of the top officials of the United States, Great Britain and France now are overshadowed by the question of a Big Four meeting.

On the eve of the Bermuda meeting, Russia suddenly agrees to a foreign ministers' conference on the German question. The British and the French obviously are anxious to set up such a meeting, soon.

The American attitude is one of high skepticism, based with good reason on a consistent Russian record of bad faith, dishonesty and broken agreements.

But if the Russians, for whatever motives, now actually are ready to talk about unification of Germany, the Western nations cannot afford to reverse the roles and block a conference. Secretary Dulles summed it up this week when he said if there seemed to be any chance at all of a settlement, the United States would pursue it.

So a first-line problem at the Bermuda conference is how to deal with the latest Soviet note on the German conference. On this question, much will depend on the degree of unity among themselves which President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel can achieve.

Mr. Dulles laid down the keynote when he said the test of Russian purposes is Moscow's willingness to admit a breath of freedom to any area behind the Iron Curtain.

If the Russians are unwilling on this point, there isn't much chance of getting anywhere.

The superstition attached to lighting three cigarettes with one match dates back to war time when the enemy would get the range after the second cigarette was lighted and the third smoker would thus be an easy target.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

"LIFE WITH FEATHER"

Is America stocking too many feathers? Is the feather trend in our country getting out of bounds? A Congressman's charges that Uncle Sam is buying and storing mountains of feathers at a cost of millions of dollars have stirred up another Washington row. "We are cornering the world feather market," says the Congressman. "We are feathering the biggest bed on earth, buying so many that we lack storage space." The General Services Bureau says feathers have become a critical item and that it needs them for high altitude work by airmen. If this is so, okay with us all. But if is feared our feather goal is being overestimated and that unless there are some feather controls in government the trend of the people toward feathery existences (pretty marked during the past two decades) may be too greatly encouraged, making for a softer civilization.

Comes an end of war and what do we do with the feathers? Government feather distribution to the citizenry could follow. There was a time when an American didn't expect feathers up to the time he had worked hard, most of his life, saved some dough, kept books carefully and attained a position of reasonable security. But this fellow has gone with the wind, the high-wheeled bike, the hardwood bench and the folding cot. There is little trace left of the old-fashioned American who slept for years on a hard mattress, never went in much for feathers and seldom saw any except at the Buffalo Bill circus or poultry show. Feathers didn't figure in the economy and under no circumstances hampered budget balancers.

This feather situation can become disturbing. In an era of good money, short hours, more holidays and longer vacations, a feather glut could mean greater Federal distribution of ease and comfort, with deep dissatisfaction filling the heart of any man whose chair cushion lacked enough feathers or who had to sleep on mattresses with no peach fuzz inside. Workers, employers and mediators might be unable to function happily if the upholstery wasn't extra soft during the conferences. We can imagine an NLRB conference busting up through unsatisfactory feather conditions.

Overdo this feather trend and you will get thicker upholstery in autos, day coaches and buses. There could even come a demand that feathers be put into trouser seats. Consider the American of 1975—he may boast that he began life on foam rubber and worked up to peacock plumes, eiderdown and hummingbird wings.

AMERICAN 'RATTLERS'

Robert S. Allen Reports

Momentous Declaration Due On U.S. Strength In Europe

Washington — There will be a moment-ous announcement at Bermuda on American military strength in Europe.

President Eisenhower will officially declare that there will be no reduction in U. S. ground and air forces now stationed on the Continent. The former consist of five divisions and the famed Constabulary, the equivalent of a division.

This far-reaching commitment will be a joint statement, in which Prime Minister Churchill will proclaim a similar policy regarding the four divisions Britain has in Europe and Foreign Minister Bidault will pledge French ratification of the agreement to create an Allied army that includes German divisions.

Two men not present at the "Big Three" conference are primarily responsible for the forthcoming declaration.

They are Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Admiral Arthur Radford.

A long talk last month between the German leader and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff directly led to President Eisenhower's decision to make no change in American military strength in Europe.

Following is the inside story of this historic event:

One of the questions Radford put to Adenauer was what effect, if any, a cut in strength of the American garrison would have on the people and governments of Western Europe. That proposal has been discussed as an economy measure in top Administration circles.

"If your country does that," Adenauer warned gravely, "the consequences will be tragic. It will inevitably undo all the good that American generosity and leadership has accomplished so far. Surely you must know that every scrap of gossip and rumor about the possible withdrawal of American forces provokes the greatest fear and alarm all over Europe. Even the withdrawal of a small number of your troops would have the most dangerous psychological effect. It would not only encourage the Russians to become aggressive again but would discourage the people of Europe from resisting them."

Adenauer strongly advised an official announcement that the U. S. will continue to maintain its present military strength in Europe.

"Without such a declaration," he added, "I doubt very much whether the French will ratify the European Defense Community. There would be no hope of getting them to do that if they have any doubts about the retention of American troops in Europe."

Radford gave a detailed account of this frank discussion to President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and Defense Secretary Wilson.

They were deeply impressed by Adenauer's views. Dulles confirmed the latter's misgivings about the French. Dulles reported that Minister Bidault was insistently pressing him for "precise assurances" regarding American forces on the Continent.

"In the light of these factors," Dulles said, "I recommend we make the announcement urged by Adenauer, provided we can get similar commitments from the British and French."

It was also agreed that the Bermuda parley would be a strategic occasion to proclaim the tri-party decision.

Foreign flashes: — Russia is covertly trying to induce a number of disfigured victims of the atomic attacks on Japan to come to Moscow, apparently for anti-American propaganda purposes. Red agents are making attractive offers to such Japanese. Meanwhile, an American church organization is trying to bring 20 Japanese girls to this country for plastic surgery, but the State Department is still fiddling around on whether to admit them . . . The Swiss Parliament has been debating the problem of foreign investment capital from an unusual angle. The Swiss problem is not getting such funds; their difficulty is finding sound and lucrative projects on which to invest money . . . Egypt and Britain are officially on unfriendly terms, but that isn't keeping the former from hiring a British firm to handle the auctioning of ex-King Farouk's big collection of art and other objects early next year. Tentative dates of the sale are February 12 to March 6.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Evidence, Not Politics, Brings Out Facts Of Espionage; Cover-Up Aids Only Enemy

It is not known in this country what Igor Gouzenko has to say. Maybe he has nothing new to add. Maybe he just is bored. Or perhaps he can put his finger on the two missing spy rings that operated in the United States since 1934 and about which nothing is yet known except that four rings were supposed to exist and only two have been uncovered.

Senator Jenner rejected the Canadian terms. What those terms amounted to was that he or his counsel would go wherever Igor Gouzenko lives under the guardianship of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police; he would talk to Gouzenko; he would submit whatever he learned to the censorship of Lester Pearson, minister for external affairs. Then he would forever be bound by the confidence.

No competent reporter today accepts that kind of confidence because he knows that it is a trap to shut him up. What cannot be learned from one source may be obtained elsewhere, but the man who is bound by a confidence is forever interdicted from telling the truth.

On the other hand, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles probably took the only position he could when he upheld Pearson's attitude. If the Canadians refuse to cooperate, we have no way of enforcing cooperation. If Gouzenko's conscience bothers him, he will undoubtedly find a way of getting the truth out.

We need to try to understand the cover-up. In the early 1930s, many young men and women, at college and fresh out of college, joined left-wing movements. Some have remained in them; some slipped into the espionage underground; some gave up the left-wing, becaue more conservative, and want their pasts forgotten. As more data on those days become available, the guilty and innocent, the continuing wicked and the repentent and remorseful are equally involved. Therefore, those who can prove their subsequent good conduct are as anxious to cover up as the bad boys and girls.

Officials on the rise, in the 1930s and up to 1945, were often associated with, or even employed, men and women who have turned out to have been Communists or spies. It is most embarassing, especially if there is evidence that the big fellows knew of the involvement. They would like to cover up.

Sometimes the situation is tragic: a father faces the exposure of a son or a daughter, or a husband discovers that his wife has wandered ideologically. Among the recent accusations, there was a clergyman who was practically a party prisoner because his only son had joined them and become an active figure in their movement. The father rationalized it all as doing good. I watched this tragedy closely and know its sadness.

The cover-up aids the enemy, but then there are those who still do not believe the evidence of an espionage conspiracy. It appears to them to be fantastic. The reason is that the pattern, as it unfolds, is so alien to American life and American thought, that it is unbelievable. Some even feel that it is all politics, a synonym in the American mind for something cheap and vulgar.

They forget that the initial uncovering job was done by a Democratic House Committee on Un-American Activities and by the Democratic McCarran Committee. In fact, all investigations today are rooted in the McCarraan Committee's monumental study of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

It is not politics that brings out the facts of the espionage; it is the evidence of espionage. The opposition to McCarthy, for instance, makes a point that the Fort Monmouth investigation is a hoax. They said that before the open hearings began and therefore the evidence already adduced was undisclosed. Will they call the Fort Monmouth hearings a hoax a month from now? They demand that the Congressional committee produce a present-day spy like a jack-out-of-a-box; but if they have any understanding at all, they must realize that a foundation had to be laid by testimony; that, like a mosaic, the pieces of evidence must be brought together in a pattern. How long did it take to convict Alger Hiss?

This is a sad picture which brings joy to no one's heart. Espionage is such a dirty crime that the thought of it is revolting.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Once upon a time, many hundreds of years ago, there was a beautiful young man named Narcissus.

This youth was almost as good looking as some of our modern television stars, but, like them, he was exceedingly vain.

He was so vain, indeed, that when Echo, the nymph, fell madly in live with him, he didn't even notice it.

Echo's love was so desperate that she pined away to nothing until only her voice was left. (And that according to mythology is how the echo originated.)

Well, when Echo passed away, Nemesis, the goddess of retribution, thought that Narcissus had played the girl a dirty trick. So she caused him to drink of a certain fountain, in which the water was so clear that he could see his own image in it.

"Gracious, goodness,' he exclaimed. "Who is that good-looking fellow?" And then, in imitation of Groucho Marx, he welled, "That's me!"

From then on there just was no living with Narcissus. He got so vain and so self-centered and so in love with himself, that nobody wanted to have anything to do with him. So he, too, pined away, just like little Echo.

The gods then held a meeting and decided that Narcissus should not be entirely forgotten. They trans-spirited him into a flower which, to this day, is known as the narcissus.

I thought of this tale when I heard about George DuPre, of Calgary, Alberta, who told some wild and woolly tales of his war exploits as a spy and told them so picturesquely and plausibly that he fooled such an astute reporter as Quentin Reynolds, such a smart publisher as Bennett Cerf, and such a fine editor as DeWitt Wallace, who respectively wrote, published and ran a condensation of his wondrous tale.

The whole thing turned out to be a colossal hoax.

The man didn't even want any money for his yarn, which he had told at lectures and meetings all over Canada.

All he wanted was the glory and the publicity that went with being a hero.

If that isn't a Narcissus complex, I never saw one.

This Narcissus complex, in more moderate form, is a common human shortcoming.

Look at all the people who will do anything to get their names into the newspapers.

Look at the hosts of people who want to be listed in "Who's Who" or in the Social Register.

Look at the big shiny cars in every city, and the sable and chinchilla and mink coats worn by their female passengers. Narcissus!

Narcissus, according to the myth, had nothing else but good looks. Legend attributes no brains, no achievement, no bravery to him. Only looks. And even in the mythological days there wasn't much appreciation of just good looks except perhaps by the bobby-soxers of that age.

Neither is there any great appreciation of JUST money or JUST looks or JUST nothing-in-particular, in these modern days. But the dispensers of articles that cater to the VANITY or Narcissus-complex of people wax rich.

And the poor Narcissuses of today don't even have a flower named after them.

Memo To The Editor

There are experts who will tell you that Hitler was defeated on Aug. 14, 1941, at sea, aboard the U. S. S. Augusta—before the U. S. fired a shot. Hitler had been boasting that the Germans were a master race and would rule the world . . . On that day Churchill and Roosevelt declared the fundamental right of all people to freedom . . . The experts on psychological warfare will tell you that every man and every country in the world for whom Hitler intended chains reached for a gun the day Churchill and Roosevelt gave the rallying call . . . They became our allies—not because they loved us—but because they hated and feared Hitler.

This is more than an historical note . . . It is the keynote of victory in our present crisis . . . Our greatest allies at this moment are the people of the satellite countries. We have an army of 20,000,000 people in Russia right now, but they are behind barbed wire . . . That isn't all: Among the deepest secrets of the war is this: That all of southwest Russia (the Ukraine) was really to fight with Hitler until he started hanging 11-year-old boys and 75-year-old women . . . Then the same population (which would have supported him) turned to savage guerrilla warfare . . . Hitler knew enough about maps to be fooled by them . . . He counted every advance of the German Army as an asset to the Reich . . . Actually, the new territory was his greatest liability . . . It lengthened his lines and he had to weaken his army to police the hostile territories.

Malenkov, this very minute, is having the same headaches Hitler had . . . Pravda has attacked the Italian Communist paper (Unita) for being "too friendly" in tone to the U. S. A. . . . Izvestia is attacking the Czech Communist paper Rude Pravo for not being "sharper" 'about Tito . . . And the Roumanian Communist party (along with the French) has been put on the carpet in Moscow for "ineffective organization" . . . In plain language, the enemy himself is telling us that he is having trouble holding his lines.

The secret evidence of the unrest behind the Iron Curtain is reflected in the Red Army itself . . . Nearly six full divisions (in number of men) have deserted to free territory since the end of World War II . . . The morale report on the Polish Red Army is so low that Red Intelligence has warned the Kremlin that it is unsafe to use it against the West . . . It might desert not by divisions but by the Corps . . . Every day, at certain points, whole groups send out word from behind the Iron Curtain that they are ready for underground activity . . . As an example, a slow-down strike is in progress right now in Czech coal mines and on Czech railroads, exactly similar to the ones the French workers effected on Hitler . . . And all this is being done without the slightest assistance from outside.

Guerrilla warfare is to a military campaign what the left jab is to the prize ring . . . It keeps the opposing army off balance; it can't get set to land its haymaker . . . But it comes under the head of unorthodox tactics and so it has been a neglected art with the Western powers . . . Yet it can be authoritatively stated that their Intelligence services have repeatedly said that the Iron Curtain countries are wide open to "special operations" . . . Meaning the arming and assisting of the people's underground.

There are two countries inside the Iron Curtain right now whose heroes are ready to take to the hills and the fields . . . That, militarily, means that we have parachute divisions already landed east of Berlin, if we have sense enough to arm them . . . The reason we haven't is that it has been a Western tradition for the last hundred years to use either kid gloves or the mailed fist, in a game which, since 1920, has scored every knockout punch on blows right below the belt . . . There are experts who will tell you that right now 10,000 machine guns behind the Iron Curtain would be worth more than the whole Marshall Plan in saving Europe . . . But it hasn't been done because that would be illegal!

Joint Board Told It Can Build School For Less Than Million

Members Ask Economies In Building

Brodheadsville — Economy in building a proposed secondary school; election of officers and discussion of finances were the points of interest at a meeting of Pleasant Valley School Board last night.

Meeting in Chestnuthill High School here, board members heard one of their own group—Clayton Snyder, Ross—declare "I do know it's possible to build a high school for less than a million dollars."

The proposed secondary school, which would theoretically house students from Ross, Chestnuthill, Polk, Hamilton and Eldred Townships, has been advocated as a million-dollar-plus venture by some members of the joint board.

Original estimates hovered in the vicinity of $750,000— then began moving upward during last year.

Supporting Snyder's stand was a Ross Township resident, Theodore Schultz, Saylorsburg RD1.

Schultz pointed to a recently-completed secondary building at Camp Hill, Pa., which cost a total of $761,000 to build.

Illustrating his stand with a magazine article, Schultz pointed out that the building at Camp Hill was intended to house an estimated 600 students—"about the same number that we're supposed to have here when our school is built."

The magazine article described the Camp Hill building as an "all-new structure" with the exception of a small portion built in 1938. The Camp Hill school contains 28 major instructional classrooms, 10 minor instructional rooms, a library, gymnasium, auditorium, locker rooms, acoustical plaster ceilings, plaster walls, asphalt title flooring, steel fenestra windows (with directional glass windows in some areas), metal stairs complete with metal fire doors separating them from corridors, the magazine article said.

Snyder and Schultz urged further investigation of possible economies in building the proposed structure.

Current building costs were also challenged by Thomas Rogers, Hamilton board member who cited the fact that Pennsylvania communities were paying as high as $60,000 per classroom while adjoining states, such as New York and New Jersey were building their schools at a cost of $25,000 to $30,000 per classroom.

New officers were elected for the coming year at last night's meeting.

There was no opposition for the offices for president, first or second vice presidents in the nominations.

R. Newton Davenport, Chestnuthill, who had served three months as the board president, following resignation of Rogers, was again nominated and elected.

Davenport was nominated by Norman Burger, Polk. Burger's nomination-motion was seconded by LeRoy Hinton, Polk. Carl Kresge, Chestnuthill, moved that nominations cease, David Griffith, Polk, seconded.

William Kreimoyer, Polk, was nominated without opposition for first vice president. Kreimoyer was nominated by LeRoy Hinton, Polk. Ervin Kreger, Chestnuthill, seconded. Carl Kresge again moved that nominations close. Griffith again seconded.

Carl Kresge, Chestnuthill, was then nominated without opposition for second vice president by Clayton Snyder, Ross. Wilson Hawk, Eldred, seconded. Hinton moved nominations close, Halden Murphy, Chestnuthill, seconded the motion.

Only contest developed in the run for secretary. Both Arlington Smith the Chester Stanowski were nominated—Smith was elected nine votes to seven for Stanowski.

The regular financial report showed that the joint school district had expenditures of $16,006.54 for the month of November.

Receipts totaled $20,394.92 with a $3,700.93 balance on hand at the beginning of November.

Payments into the jointure were made as follows: Chestnuthill—$13,014.83; Eldred — $9,189.46; Hamilton—$13,288.92; Polk—$14,486.75; Ross—$6,395.71.

Total funds still on hand as of Dec. 3 for Jan. 7 expenditures was $8,089.31.

On a motion by Tom Rogers, Hamilton, seconded by Carl Kresge, Chestnuthill, the board agreed to pay teachers for the month of December on the day before the Christmas vacation begins.

Resignation letter from Mrs. Esther Young Kresge was read to the board. Mrs. Kresge had been on sabbatical leave from Polk school. The board accepted Mrs. Kresge's resignation with regret.

Davenport read a letter from Ira Haupt Co., the joint district's bonding firm, stating that a bond issue of a million dollars was "not feasible" and "out of the question" at present.

A request to see the minutes of the board, received in a letter fr[om] Mrs. Elmer Veety, Stroudsbur[g] 2, was read. No approval was necessary, Davenport said, since the school code requires such a request be granted when received in writing by the board.

Board would grant the request at convenience of and by arrangement with the secretary, Arlington Smith, Davenport said.

THIS IS THE END PRODUCT of more than a year's research and experimentation by East Stroudsburg High School junior Judson Diehl, 16. Commonly known as a "Tesla coil", the apparartus generates over one million volts of electricity from its secondary coil. It is believed to be the largest and most complex coil of its kind ever constructed in this area by a high school physics student. (Daily Record Photo)

Apparatus That Generates Million Volts Of Electricity Developed By ESHS Junior

Students in East Stroudsburg High School physics classes should be getting used to high-powered experiments by now.

Yesterday afternoon they had more than a million volts of electricity in one of their basement laboratory rooms. It was perfectly safe, though, according to the classroom instructor and the inventor.

The man behind the invention—a complex, highly-potent "Tesla coil"— is 16-year-old Judson (Jud) Diehl, a boy with an advanced skill in physics and an eye on atomic engineering.

Diehl's invention stands about three feet high. The coil is capable of throwing off over one million volts of electric power—but is incapable of harming a human being, according to its maker.

To begin at the beginning—and a long, slow, arduous beginning it was—Diehl first got the idea for construction of the Tesla coil nearly two years ago.

The "idea" was a long way from reality, however. To pave the way for the coil's final construction, Diehl began boning up on lengthy papers on electronics, studying diagrams of the coil's possible construction and conducting experiments in the making of separate parts.

Most of the treatises Diehl dealt with, according to school officials, were far advanced for a high school-level student. Many were complete reports, or excerpts from college research groups.

Finally, with a clear-cut idea in mind of the precise type of coil he wished to build, Diehl began construction of the present apparatus more than four months ago.

Slowly and patiently, he worked his way through the complicated—and, to a layman, confusing—small parts which make the "Tesla" go.

Like the squire and the "wonderful one-hoss shay," Diehl constructed each working part with extreme care, fitted the pieces together, found that some of it wouldn't function properly, began all over again on those parts.

Biggest headache was the "condenser" shown (in photograph, it's the "black box underneath the coil") for which Diehl couldn't get proper parts.

The student solved the situation by building the whole thing from scratch, using spare parts loaned or donated to him by East Stroudsburg merchants.

Biggest job—in terms or manhours—was the painstaking task of building the coils for the internal working of the machine.

The first of these—called a "primary coil"—required only 20 turns of wire. The second—referred to by Diehl as the "secondary" or resonant secondary coil—took 2,300 turns of wire.

Both coils had to be "wrapped" by hand.

Diehl spent all of his weekends, a "lot of nights" and a good many after-school hours in the manufacture of the coil.

With the insides of the coil finished, Diehl set to work on the finishing touches.

The coil now runs from a 15,000-volt "transformer" (shown in the photo in the foreground).

The "Telsa" coil is "nearly twice as big as any other" Diehl has ever seen hereabouts.

A powerful apparatus, its million-plus voltage "travels out at a terrifically high frequency . . . so that it doesn't harm the body."

Electricity from the coil "travels over the skin of the body to the nearest ground," Diehl says.

For Jud Diehl, the Tesla coil is just the beginning. He's a young man with a firm eye on his own future—a future which, he hopes, will include further study in the field he likes.

If Jud has his way, the "study" will take place at Massachusetts Institute of Technology or another recognized college with the courage to experiment.

He'll major in electrophysics or atomic engineering, he says now.

Whatever the course may be, Diehl isn't looked upon as the kind of boy who would "give up easily" by faculty members at the school.

For him, they believe, the dreams will be shared in equal parts by determination and a belief in a man's ability to do what he sets out to do—quite often alone.

Funds Sought To Clothe Needy Tots

An appeal for funds to clothe Monroe County's underprivileged children was sounded yesterday by Monroe County Children's Clothing, Inc., a non-profit group founded three years ago to help the needy.

Mrs. Helen Minnich, secretary, disclosed the organization is in dire need of assistance at this time with requests for children's wearing apparel mounting almost daily.

Since the corporation's inception it has been estimated that over 3,000 pieces of children's clothing and footwear have been distributed in the county. The clothing, purchased new at reduced rates through arrangement by members of the group, is distributed 365 days a year, and not just at Christmas, Mrs. Minnich emphasized.

An example of the type of letters appealing for assistance is this request received this week in the local office:

"Will you please be so kind as to help me out and give me a pair of shoes for Joey Jr., size 13½. Also long pants, size 7 or 8 as he is wearing patched ones to school now.

"Oh please help me out. Doris Lee needs shoes also, size 3½ and could use a dress. Joey could use a warm shirt also. Honest, he hasn't anything warm to wear. Believe me, my husband has only two days pay coming this Saturday and I've been laid off since the 13th. So please, please help me."

Mrs. Minnich explained that the number of children in need of clothing in this county alone is alarming. Yesterday, she said, a young boy brought a note similar to the one above to her office. "The youngster was pr[illegible]ly walking on the ground" [illegible] He needed shoes very b[illegible]d we'll do everything in our p[illegible] to see he gets them.

Reports on needy children reach the office through school nurses, Mrs. Minnich explained. They need everything in wearing apparel. Since the group was formed over 600 pairs of new shoes have been distributed, she noted.

In the appeal it was stressed that clothing is not needed since the corporation has an outlet where it can secure quality garments at low costs. But contributions are urgently needed to continue the project, especially with the cold weather setting in.

Contributions may be forwarded to Arlington Williams, treasurer, Monroe County Children's Clothing, Inc., 28 N. Seventh St., Stroudsburg.

Frances R. Scott Leaves Estate Valued At $35,000, Will Probated Here Shows

An estate totaling an estimated $35,000 "and upwards" was left by Frances R. Scott, 68, Marshalls Creek, who died Nov. 7, according to wills probated yesterday at the Court House.

The petition for probate listed an estimated "$20,000 and upwards" in personal property, and "$15,000 and upwards" in real estate in Smithfield and Middle Smithfield Townships.

The property was left to Russell D. Scott Jr., a son, subject to payment by him of $7,500 in installments to another son, Melvin W. Scott.

Personal estate was left to her husband, Roswell M., by Mrs. Edith Stott Eddy, 74, of 130 Park Ave., Stroudsburg, who died Nov. 16, according to another will probated.

Amzi D. Miller, 81, Smithfield Township, who died Nov. 20, left personal property totaling an estimated $11,500 and upwards to three children.

The will probated said Miller's home, furnishings and money in banks were to go to his daughter, Ruth A. Miller, together with an acre of land on Old Chimney Road.

A garage building and equipment was left to son Ralph L. Miller, 738 Milford Dr., East Stroudsburg. Ralph Miller and another son, Francis E., received two other shops near the garage, and land adjacent to the garage, jointly.

Pastor Sends Publication To Young People

Bartonsville—Rev. John B. Bergstresser, pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran charge, has started a new project aimed at reaching the children of the parish.

He has compiled a list of children under 12 years of age to whom he will send a copy of a children's monthly bulletin, "Let's Go." This illustrated booklet is published by the Lutheran Laymen's Movement of the Lutheran Church and contains Christian teachings presented from a child's point of view.

Any children of the parish who did not receive a copy of "Let's Go" during the last week of November, will be placed on the mailing list if their parents notify Rev. Bergstresser.

Children of non-Lutheran parents may also receive this monthly paper through the mail by giving their name and address to Rev. Bergstresser.

$400 Damage In Collision Of Two Cars

Damages of $400 were caused in the collision of two cars on Route 209 at 5 p. m. yesterday, three-fourths of a mile east of East Stroudsburg.

Garnold E. Cramer, 23, Saylorsburg RD 1, one of the drivers, was treated at East Stroudsburg General Hospital for head injuries, then discharged.

The other driver, Howard J. Jones, 45, of 223 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, was uninjured, according to Pfc. Don Henzey of the Stroudsburg station.

Henzey said the two cars collided when Jones, returning from a hunting trip, attempted to turn left off the highway and collided with the left side of the Cramer car. Damages were about $200 to each vehicle, Henzey estimated.

Mrs. Andre, 86, Dies At Kellersville

Mrs. Laura Andre, 86, Kellersville, died at 5 p.m. yesterday at her residence.

A life-long West End resident, she was a member of Hamilton Square Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Surviving is a grandson, Lewellyn Andre, Stroudsburg; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Werkheiser, Saylorsburg; two brothers, Frank Butz, Saylorsburg, and Nathan Butz, Stockertown.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Hamm funeral home, Brodheadsville, with Rev. Adan Bohner officiating. Burial will be at Mount Zion Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Saturday.

CIO Challenged U.E. To Election

Boston, (AP)—President James B. Carey of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers yesterday challenged the United Electrical Workers—thrown out of the CIO as Communist-dominated—to a "winner take all" union election in all U. S. plants of the General Electric Co.

Carey issued the challenge in a speech before the state convention of the Massachusetts CIO.

Foreman Has Good Reason To Be Proud

Lancaster (AP)—Roy Houtz pointed with pride yesterday to some of his own handiwork.

Just last week, Houtz, from Tower City, Pa., was foreman of a crew erecting safety fence along the new Rt. 230 by-pass around the city of Lancaster. Yesterday he was driving his own car over the route when it was struck from behind by a tractor-trailer truck piloted by Frank T. Tizillo, of Philadelphia.

Houtz' car headed toward a 15-foot embankment. It came to a stop on the brink, tight against the new fence.

Stepping unhurt from his badly-damaged car, Houtz looked at the fence and announced to the would-be rescuers running to the scene: "See, I built it. It held."

Salvation Army Kettles To Be Placed

One more traditional sign of Christmas will appear on local streets beginning Saturday.

The Salvation Army will station its kettles throughout both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg tomorrow.

The appearance of the small kettles marks the opening of the Army's plans for their 1953 Christmas season.

Other programs will be announced later by Capt. Charles Baker, head of the Salvation Army citadel in East Stroudsburg.

Driver Posts Bail For Next Court Term

A 46-year-old Stroudsburg man posted $300 bail for the next term of Monroe County Court yesterday morning after waiving a hearing on drunken driving charges preferred by Stroudsburg borough police.

Police identified the man as Harold Pugh, 823 Sarah St. According to officers Pugh, operating a car owned by William Van Why, 9 S. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, crashed headon into a car on W. Main St. at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Anna F. Schmaltman, 30, of 1221 Hamilton St., Stroudsburg, was driving the other car.

Pugh was examined by a local doctor and declared under the influence of intoxicating beverage. Later he was committed to Monroe County Jail and stayed there overnight. Arraignment was before Justice of the Peace William Walton at 10:15 a.m. yesterday.

Damage to the cars was estimated at $200 each. There were no personal injuries.

Bell Engineer Demonstrates 'Wrist Watch' Radio At Meeting Of Rotary Club

A miniature radio, resembling an oversized wrist watch, capable of receiving stations within a radius of 100 miles, was demonstrated yesterday to the Stroudsburg Rotary Club by E. D. Lavery, sales engineer of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The radio, which could be heard clearly by all members of the audience, uses "transistors" in its operation instead of the more familiar and larger vacuum tubes.

The speaker explained that transistors are one of the latest developments of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and that to date some 40 firms have been licensed to manufacture them and about 500 firms to use them in their products.

"Transistors are so small that you could easily hold 100 of them in the palm of your hand," Lavery said, "yet they will do practically everything a vacuum tube will do and then some. They won't burn out and you can throw them against a brick wall and they won't break.

"Furthermore, they have no moving parts to get out of order and will operate on less than one-thousandth of the power required to light an ordinary flashlight bulb," he said.

Main ingredient of transistors is a metal known as "germamium," in which the impurities are reduced to five parts in one hundred billion, he added. This is the same ratio that would apply if the Pentagon Building, Washington, was filled with white marbles and then 50 black ones were scattered among them.

Lavery made an actual transistor operate using as a source of power an ordinary coin and a piece of damp blotting paper. This, he said, produced a current of approximately one fifty-millionth of a watt.

"Transistors have now been developed to the point where they will amplify 100,000 times," he said. "In addition to radios, hearing aids and loud speaking systems, they can be used to amplify telephone calls, dial telephone impulses, and will be used for other telephone equipment. They are now being used in long distance dialing, where calls can be dialed directly to telephones across the continent."

The speaker, looking into the future, also demonstrated a miniature radio transmitter, operated by transistors, and he predicted that in the not too distant future it would be combined with the wrist watch radio to provide a complete broadcasting and receiving station weighing not more than a few ounces.

"I'm told that the scientists of the Bell Laboratories see the day coming when there will be no dial on your telephone at all," he concluded. "You'll simply speak the number you want into a transmitter and the dial equipment, set in motion by the sound waves of your voice will automatically complete your call.

"Beyond that is the day when there won't even be a telephone instrument. You'll simply sit in your favorite easy chair at home or at your desk in the office—speak aloud the number you want to reach and, seconds later, you will hear the voice of the person you have called.

"Already, experimental models have been built of telephones without cord connections of any kind, which means that some day you can take your telephone with you as you work in the garden and make and receive your telephone calls there."

Come In and Order One ... Today!

Of course, any day is a wonderful day for stepping up to Cadillac.

When the magic moment arrives in a man's life when he feels entitled to the "car of cars," he should make the move without hesitation—regardless of year, or season, or any other consideration.

But we do feel, in all honesty, that the motorist who finds himself in that happy circumstance this fall is particularly fortunate.

For Cadillac has never offered so many wonderful things, in such abundant measure, as it does today.

It is supremely beautiful—with grace and dignity and majesty that set it instantly apart from the rest of the world's motor cars.

Its performance is simply breath-taking—even when measured against Cadillac's own extraordinary standards. And the car is luxurious and distinctive and pride-inspiring far beyond its illustrious predecessors.

In addition to all this, the current Cadillac creation is unbelievably practical to own and economical to operate. The lowest-priced Cadillac, for instance, now costs less than twenty-two different models of other makes of motor cars manufactured in America.

And you can ride out a normal, full day's journey on a single tankful of gasoline.

As if this were not sufficient to set it apart, a Cadillac car—according to an authoritative study of used car prices—may be expected to return a greater percentage of its owner's original investment at the time of resale than any other motor car in the land!

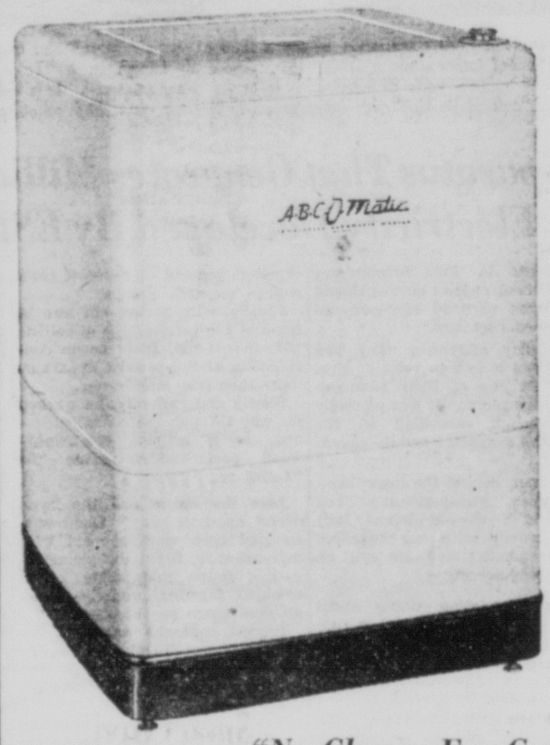

So—if you are considering a Cadillac for yourself and your family—come in and order one today!

It's the right thing to do—and it's the right time to do it.

Russian Orthodox Church's Growth Involves Strange aradox, American Historian Finds

By George W. Cornell

New York (AP)—Out of the fog of fact, rumor and fiction comes this authoritative finding: the church in Russia today is more vigorous than in many years — despite Communism's scorn for religion.

The situation, and how it came about, involves a strange paradox, heretofore not fully known this side of the Iron Curtain.

It has been brought to light by historian John Shelton Curtiss, who has assembled probably the most thorough data available to the Western world on religious conditions in the Soviet Union.

These conditions, as reported by the 54-year-old professor of Duke University, Durham, N. C., are oddly latent with both peril and promise for the church.

From what he has determined through interviews and research in this country and abroad, he made these points in response to questions from this reporter:

One—Not since the Communist revolution of 1917 has the Russian Orthodox Church "enjoyed such favorable relations with the government."

Two—"Church strength and activity" in Russia have "increased substantially" since 1941.

Three—These gains have come about in the face of Communism's avowed hostility to religion and waves of antireligious propaganda, concentrated mainly on youth.

Dr. Curtiss says the church's survival and its present strength in Russia are the result of a peculiarly ironic arrangement, born of struggle and compromise about which the free world knows little.

"I believe," he said, "that most people in this country believe there is almost no religious toleration in Russia at all today."

But despite the government's present official sanction, he added, the church's future still is in doubt.

Dr. Curtiss, author of a new book, "The Russian Church and the Soviet State," says the church is beset by two conflicting forces:

On the one hand, the Soviet government in recent years has not sought to suppress the church, but actually has aided it to expand—and the church, in turn, has supported the government.

On the other hand, the Communist party constantly assails religion, and this propaganda, aimed particularly at the younger generation, seems to be intensifying.

Eventually, Dr. Curtiss says, this propaganda could "win more and more of the young away from religion and thus in time starve the church of followers."

Dr. Curtiss, a tall, white-haired native of Buffalo, N. Y., talked with Russian church leaders and combed information in Prague, London, Paris and the United States in 12 years of research for his findings.

His new work, published by Little, Brown and Co., Boston, traces the church's status since the 1917 Revolution, a period originally marked by bitter church opposition to the Communist regime.

The Communist government, in turn, fought the church in the early years, but finally came the strange truce, followed in the last decade by an amity that has produced a resurgence of the church.

Asked how the church could support a government ruled by an anti- religious party, he said the church has "no alternative."

"It had tried opposition in various forms without success for many years and found itself in an increasingly desperate position as a result."

In justifying its present position, he said, the church "claims that in its internal affairs it is much freer from interference by the state under the present regime than it was under the czars.

"It also claims that Communism has abolished the exploitation of man by man and is closer to the ideals of the Sermon on the Mount than capitalism and 'colonial imperialism' and 'aggressive alliances' as found in Atlantic Pact countries."

Since 1941, Curtiss writes, the "church has gained markedly," and the government has "lavished favors" on it.

"Since the interests of the U.S.S.R. would be currently furthered by a flourishing church," Curtiss writes, "the church was aided to expand, to develop its theological scools, and to establish strong contact with Orthodox churches abroad."

Other denominations also have been allowed to function, he said, although the Roman Catholics "reported grave difficulties."

Meantime, he said, there is a "growing drive to indoctrinate the youth with a materialistic, godless outlook, even while the Russian church is encouraged to expand its activities.

"Probably to the leaders in the Kremlin it matters little that some millions of middle-aged and elderly people still believe, as long as the rising generation are convinced materialists."

AT&t Plans $35,000,000 Ocean Cable

The Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced plans to construct the first telephone cable system across the Atlantic Ocean. It will be by far the longest undersea voice cable in the world and the first laid at depths found in mid-ocean.

The announcement stated that an agreement had been signed for construction of the cable by the AT&T, the British Post Office, which organization provides telephone service in Great Britain, and the Canadian Oversees Telecommunication Corp., which furnishes overseas communications for Canada. It will be owned jointly by these three organizations.

Developmental and research work on such a cable has been going on for 25 years. The project will take three years to complete and will cost $35,000,000.

This cable will mean greater reliability in transatlantic telephone conversations and greatly expanded facilities. It will provide physical telephone connection between the United States and the British Isles to supplement radio circuits now in use, and will have three times present circuit capacity.

The submarine telephone cable system will contain a group of telephone circuits between New York and London, and another group between Montreal and London. At the gateway cities the circuits will connect with the telephone systems of the respective countries.

Bell System overseas service opened Jan. 7, 1927 with a single radio-telephone circuit connecting New York and London. During the first year, service rapidly expanded between the two countries and near 2,500 calls were completed.

Since then, the service demand to Great Britain has multiplied by more than 30 times. Bell now furnishes telephone service to 102 foreign countries and annually handles about 1,000,000 overseas messages.

Carols Make Christmas Merry In Little Pennsylvania Town

Glen Rock, Pa., (AP)—A bit of Merrie Olde England returns to this little Pennsylvania farm community each Yuletide in the form of almost forgotten Christmas hymns.

For more than a century the Glen Rock Carolers have ushered in Christmas morn by caroling through the streets from midnight until dawn.

An appreciative citizenry provides refreshments as the carolers pause between renditions of old English melodies.

And Glen Rock probably is the only community in the nation where children are permitted to greet Santa Claus a few minutes after midnight. Of course, sleeping arrangements are changed for Christmas Day.

The tradition had its beginning when Glen Rock was first settled in 1843 by families from Yorkshire and Lancashire in England.

Lonesome for their native land, four families caroled through their tiny New World hamlet in an Old World manner. The carolers now total 40 and the population of the town is nearly 1,500.

Songs are old English tunes and nobody, not even Director Herbert C. Hoover, seems to know their real origin.

"We have an idea that they may be old Episcopal hymns," he said. "We have a repertoire of ten of these songs and, as far as we know, they're exclusive with us."

The singers make no other public appearances, disbanding on Christmas morning until next year. Rehearsals start in late November.

Semi-annual payments to local school districts by the Department of Public Instruction have been announced by the Wayne County school office as follows: Dreher, $8,839.28; Sterling, $11,282.40. County total for 26 schools amounted to $240,000.19.

Al Basler, local grocer, is confined to his Gouldsboro home by illness. His daughter, Frances, has taken leave from her duties at the Philadelphia office of the FBI, during his absence.

The Christmas meeting of the Greene-Dreher Woman's Club will be held in the high school auditorium Tuesday night. An extensive program of entertainment is planned.

THE REFRESHINGLY different appearance of the 1954 Lincoln has been enhanced by the smart new styling scheme seen here in the four-door Capri sedan. New bumper guards and wrap-around bumpers combine with new side mouldings and a jewelled gravel shield to give greater visual length. Improvements to the 205-horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine and to the body structure, as well as new interior trim fabrics and upholsteries, feature all 1954 Lincoln models. Zacher's Remodeled Store Now Serving Holiday Trade

By James B. Gaffney

A completely remodeled store, from stem to stern, greeted customers at Zacher's Store, Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, this week as Max and Sylvia Zacher observed 29 years in business.

New lighting fixtures and a revamped floor selling area granting customers free selection on a self-service basis, are only a few of the highlights in the redesigned store.

James B. Gaffney

The interior is an eye-catcher, since California redwood was used as the general theme and brick for the base was shipped here from Florida. Most of the fixtures were built within the store's four walls since remodeling started in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Zacher opened their first store on S. Crystal St. in 1924 and five years later moved to the present address, across from the DL&W Railroad station.

Assisting the couple in the store are their son Leon, who recently completed an orthepedic course in shoe fitting; his wife Ruth; Mrs. Frances Mason, the owner's daughter; Mrs. Sara Gussett, who finished a course at a nationally known corset school, and Mrs. Mary Bush.

During this Christmas season the store will remain open Friday and Saturday nights until 9.

International recognition has been accorded John Austin, local sign painter, for a three-dimensional fixture he designed for Pen-Stroud Paint Store, Stroudsburg.

The East Stroudsburg resident who has his office at 39 Broad St., Stroudsburg, was awarded a certificate from Signs of the Times, trade journal of his profession.

The certificate announces Austin as the October winner for the Pen-Stroud Paint Store sign as the foremost commercial sign in international competition in truck letfering and show card work categories.

Austin's prize-winner is 60-feet long, four-feet high and the three paint cans which protrude over the sidewalk are 22 inches in diameter.

Harold Knipe, 18 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, is reported leading the area in promotion of high-fidelity electronics equipment.

Knipe started in the radio-TV field in 1941 and 10 years ago moved to his present address. He holds the franchise for high-fidelity work in this region for industrial sound and TV.

In his shop, which he remodeled recently, Knipe repairs and installs all types of electronic equipment and announces he is equipped to wire homes completely for music.

Plans of Packard Motor Car Co. to sustain the momentum which reportedly more than doubled business for the first nine months of 1953 were told this week to Parke W. Kunkle, Pocono Automobile Co., Inc., N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg.

Kunkle attended a meeting of key Packard retailers at Syracuse, N. Y., where he was informed that nationally, auto dealers have handled a 50 percent business increase this year despite a tightening of bank and consumer credit.

Packard's nine-months operations brought a net income of $6,083,229, compared with $3,094,515 for the same period last year. Sales in 1952 were $137,841,208 as compared with the augmented $283,896,829 for the January-September period this year.

Garden Club To Honor All Presidents

The executive board of the Monroe County Garden Club yesterday voted to purchase Past President's pins for all past presidents of the club to be presented in January. The Club President's pin has just been established by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, as a tribute to the club presidents for their efforts in expanding garden club aims and ideals.

The board meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church with Mrs. Elwood Grant, president, in charge. Mrs. Grant announced that the Gold Seal of the National Council for contributions in the field of gardening or horticulture of national or world significance had been awarded to a women for the first time. She was Mrs. J. Norman Henry, of Gladwyn, Pa., who has put 100 plants into commercial hands during the last few years.

The board voted to accept Mrs. Francis M. Marvin, of Bartonsville, as an associate member for 1954, and to reinstate Mrs. Victor Taylor, of 716 Main St., Stroudsburg, as an active member.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas meeting of the club and committees were named as follows: Mrs. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. A. F. Sommer, Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, gift exchange; Mrs. Jay Peters and Mrs. Judson Lee, Christmas arrangements; Mrs. Willis Goddard, chairman of the tea committee.

The retiring officers and the members of the new board will hold a joint luncheon at the Elks Home, with Mrs. Edgar Van Why as chairman of menu; Mrs. Edward Knob as reservations chairman; Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. Walter Stanard, decorations.

The January tea committee will include Mrs. W. R. Erickson, Mrs. Judson Lee and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson.

Those present for the meeting were: Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Norman Dreher, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Mathieson, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. LeRoy Bush, Mrs. William Peacock, Mrs. Ray Osborn, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Knob, Mrs. Russell Hamblin, Mrs. Stanard, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, Mrs. John Teisher, Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. Albert F. Sommer, Mrs. Irving Kriffin.

Mount Pocono—Mrs. Leandro Fanseen of Woodland Road entertained Mrs. Hattie Stewart, Mrs. Willy Reiss and Mrs. Arthur Rugh at a luncheon on Tuesday.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, the social page looks sort of drab this morning with no pictures, but nobody seems to want her picture taken these days what with Christmas shopping, Christmas baking, and pre-Christmas housecleaning taking their toll.

And yet is wasn't so many years ago that pictures—social or otherwise-were the exceptien rather than the rule. It looks something really big like a church wedding or a political campaign. First you had to furnish the picture, and, then it had to be sent away to get engraved and you had to wait until it came back—and first thing you know it was almost a wedding anniversary.

Now, it looks queer—like a woman without lipstick, or a window without curtains, or eggs without bacon—sort of colorless. The news, however, is anything but colorless.

Even the smaller meetings are gay as Christmas trees. In fact some self-sacrificing hostesses have even gone so far as to put their own Christmas trees up this early to give their guests the benefit of them. Come Christmas morning they'll have nothing but a bunch of bare sticks and a heap of Balsom needles to put their presents under.

Which reminds me that I heard some older women talking about the time when presents always used to be on the tree not under it. In fact the gay parcels tied to the limbs were the main decorations outside of cranberry and popcorn strings and the angel for the top.

Which, of course, would have its advantages for Santa Claus who couldn't be expected to bring anything too big or heavy to hang on the Christmas tree. New mittens, a bow for your hair; a very small doll or a teddy bear; some candy canes and a new-knit scarf, and that was Christmas.

You needn't feel sorry, though. Grandma was probably quite as happy over Christmas as her grandchild, and certainly great-grandfather didn't have to face as many post-Christmas bills.

Listen To
Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

Mrs. F. Reusswig Is President Of St. Mary's Guild

The Christmas meeting of St. Mary's Guild, Christ Episcopal Church, was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Noonan on the Teachers College campus. The house was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

During the Christmas meeting, with Mrs. Walter Angle presiding Mrs. Frank W. Reusswig was elected president for the coming year with Mrs. Andrew Auerbacher, vice president; Mrs. Otto Heins, treasurer; and Mrs. L. H. Cross, secretary. Mrs. E. H. Calkins was chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Philip Brundage, supply chairman, reported on the missionary assignment for the auxiliary and Mrs. Thomas Shoesmith reported on the district meeting of the Cancer Society. Mrs. Roy M. Houser, chairman of the cancer dressing group announced that the next work session would be held December 10 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and after that on the second Thursday of each month.

The Christmas part of the meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. Calkins, and featured a reading of Dicken's Christmas tale, "The Haunted Man" by Miss Lucie M. Girard.

Holiday refreshments were served by Mrs. Joseph Noonan, Mrs. Eugene Martin and Mrs. C. Raymond Bensinger. Mrs. Thomas Shoesmith presided at the tea table.

Legion Aux. Packs Gifts For Oteen

Mount Pocono—The Christmas spirit prevailed at the Tuesday night meeting of the Auxiliary of Poconos Memorial Post 903, American Legion, at the home of Mrs. Walter Merwin, when members wrapped Christmas gifts for a woman's ward at the Oteen Veteran's Administration Hospital.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Harry Taylor who made sewing bags for each patient and gave a gift of jewelry to each one; to Mrs. Walter Merwin who made and packed a can of decorated cookies for each patient; and to Mrs. Irving Platt for purchasing the sewing articles and bobby socks.

In addition to the articles mentioned each package contained a box of candy. Thanks were expressed to the various members who contributed money for the project.

At the business meeting preceding the gift wrapping with Mrs. John Sutton, president, presiding, it was decided that the organization contribute to the "wooden Church Crusade" the purpose of which is to build two churches on the threshhold of the Iron Curtain.

The auxiliary, as it has done in previous years wishes to remember the service men and women at the Christmas season therefore families residing in Scotrun, Swiftwater, Pocono Summit and Mt. Pocono are requested to call Miss Ellen Reagan Phone 3391 or Miss Esther Foley 5124 Mt. Pocono. Following the meeting refreshments were served in the Christmas motif to the 16 members present by the hostess, Mrs. Merwin.

Jolly Janes To Invite Mothers To Dec. Party

Bartonsville—The Jolly Janes Christmas party was planned at the club meeting held at the home of Emma Dunbar on Tuesday night. They plan to entertain the mothers of club members at the party when pal gifts will be exchanged in a revealing gift, and new names will be drawn for 1954.

Mrs. Roy Shreck will entertain the group at her home with the assistance of half the club membership. The date was set for December 15.

At their meeting this week, the members found the Dunbar home decorated for Christmas with a Christmas tree and other arrangements. Refreshments were served on individual trays with seasonal favors.

Members present were Mrs. Joseph Dunbar, Mrs. Russell Bond, Mrs. Donald Hartman, Mrs. Mitchell Metzgar, Mrs. Vernon Wallace, Mrs. Haviland Heller, Mrs. Roy Schreck, Mrs. James Canfield, Mrs. Kathryn Herting, Mrs. Richard Coss and the hostess, Emma Dunbar.

Miss Hiller has chosen as her matron of honor Mrs. Dora Fritz and as her bridesmaids Miss June Edinger and Mrs. Joan Hiller.

Mr. Butz has chosen James Segesdy as his best man. Ushers will be William Hiller and Richard Long.

John Gillman of Moravian College will be soloist.

All friends are invited to attend the ceremony.

Altar, Rosary Board Plans Dec. Program

Final reports on the Altar and Rosary Society's annual bazaar were given at the meeting of the executive board held Wednesday night in the school auditorium at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church. Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki presided. The bazaar was very successful, it was reported.

Christmas plans were made for the December 16 meeting. The musical portion will be given by the Stroudsburg High School Decemettes under the direction of Numa Snyder. Mrs. Elwood Grant and Mrs. Claude Cramer will present a demonstration of Christmas decorating and packaging. Each member will be asked to bring a 50-cent gift to put in Santa's pack.

Refreshments carrying the holiday theme were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Arthur Fry and Mrs. Thomas Leonard to: Mrs. Fred Lipe, Mrs. Adolph Oppel, Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. Arthur Blewitt, Mrs. Arthur Henning, Mrs. Henry Hefele, Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki, Miss Clara Lombardi, Mrs. George Rung, Mrs. A. M. Hickey, Mrs. Edward Driebe and Mrs. Russell Nevil.

Rugh Painting In Exhibit At Town Hall

Swiftwater—Mrs. Arthur Rugh will be in New York City over the weekend attending the opening of the Wayman Adams Old Mill Studio Exhibit at Town Hall, 43rd and Broadway.

Mrs. Rugh has a painting in the exhibit which will be open during December and January. She plans to attend the Tea-Demonstration which opens the exhibit as well as the dinner meeting with artists of the Wayman Adams studio and their friends.

Daughter For Hoaglands

A daughter was born on Monday, Nov. 30, at the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoagland of Saylorsburg.

The baby has been named Robin Dale. The Hoaglands have a son, Barry Lester, who is 7.

Invitation For Anna Logans

The Anna Logan Society of the General Hospital has been invited to be the guests of the General Hospital Auxiliary at their annual Christmas tea and musical to be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 at the home of Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, Thomas St., in Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Anna Meixell, president of Anna Logan, has asked all members to notify other members since there will be no Anna Logan meeting before the tea.

Salem Guild Christmas At Schubert's

Gilbert—The Christmas meeting of the Women's Guild of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church was held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Margaret Schubert featuring a Christmas program "The Lord Is My Light." Mrs. Florence Gregory, education chairman, was the leader.

Mrs. Nora Angtemyer led the devotions with prayers by Mrs. Rosa Shupp and Mrs. Alton Albright. Assisting in the program were Mrs. Violet Gurskey, Judyann Kresge who gave a recitation; Mrs. Rosa Shupp, Mrs. Lydia Deibert, Mrs. Kathryn Snyder and Joan Gregory.

A special offering for the Bethany Orphans Home amounted to $13.

The president, Mrs. Ethel Gehris, was in charge of the business meeting. Stella Kreger and Emma Meitzler were named as auditors.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following: Mrs. Evelyn Albright, Mrs. Nora Anglemyer, Mrs. Gloria Kreger, Mrs. Ethel Gehris, Mrs. Mabel Anglemyer, Mrs. Margaret Schubert, Mrs. Molly Kresge, Miss Marijane Everett, Mrs. Stella Kreger, Mrs. Beulah Gregory, Mrs. Emma Mackes, Miss Emma Meitzler, Mrs. Ora Everett, Mrs. Lillian Kreger, Mrs. Janet Stauffer, Elizabeth Shupp, Mrs. Charles Hendry, Mrs. Rosa Shupp, Mrs. Florence Gregory, Mrs. F. W. Deibert, Mrs. Violet Gurskey, Mrs. Betty Kreger and four visitors, Mrs R. Albright, Mrs. Sylvester Held, Judyann Kresge and Joan Gregory. Members and guests exchanged Christmas gifts.

Capt. Wright Appeals For Warm Clothing

Newfoundland — Unit No. 859, American Legion Auxiliary, met in the Legion Home, Greentown, Tuesday night to complete plans for an extensive program of Christmas activities.

Mrs. Loftus Smith, president of the unit, announced that Christmas gifts had been sent to all local men now in service at home or abroad. Cost of the project was $98, which will be equally shared with the unit's parent American Legion post, Mrs. Smith said.

Two boxes of clothing for Korean war orphans have been shipped in answer to an appeal by Captain Morgan Wright, U. S. Army, a member of the local American Legion Post now on duty in that country. Wright's unit will distribute the clothing to the children at a Christmas party.

The unit will also present gifts to the children of deceased area veterans and will distribute oranges to all children attending the annual Christmas exercises at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling school on Friday, December 18.

Those attending the meeting brought "comfort articles" which will be sent to hospitalized veterans as Christmas gifts. The Wilkes-Barre Veterans hospital was designated to receive these.

Mrs. Vera Newcomer, chairman of the juniors committee, announced that the young members of the Auxiliary would meet Sunday, December 13, to make favors which will also be sent to the Wilkes-Barre hospital.

A donation of $10 was voted by the unit to the Department Christmas Package fund and another contribution was made to the National President's fund.

Mrs. Smith also announced that a joint meeting with the Legion post would be held in the Home on Thursday, December 10. Entertainment has been planned and a covered dish supper will be served.

The group saw a motion picture on Keystone Girls' State, a Department-sponsored Americanism project. Girls of the junior class of the local school, one of whom will represent the unit at next summer's camp, were invited to attend.

Doris Haase Engaged To T. H. Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. John Haase, of Walnut St., East Stroudsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Doris E. Haase, to Thomas H. Phillips, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Phillips, of Monroe St., Stroudsburg.

Miss Haase was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in 1949. Mr. Phillips attended Stroudsburg High School and served for three years in the U. S. Army, including duty in Korea. He is now employed at Patterson-Kelley.

They are planning a February wedding.

GOP Women To Model In Own Gowns

The Monroe Council of Republican Women will meet on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 2:15 at the Penn Stroud Hotel. A brief report on the highlights of the 34th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council will be given by Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin and Mrs. Floyd Bachman.

Rev. Frank Wingerter, minister of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, will read the story of the Nativity from the Bible. Council members will join in singing Christmas carols, led by Mrs. Edgar Powell, and accompanied by Mrs. John Gish.

An outstanding feature of the meeting will be "New Style Fashion Show," divided into three classes and all members may participate by wearing the costume designated, namely, a favorite dress, the dress or slacks most comfortable for everyday wear, and a dress that hangs in the closet, which describes one which is rarely worn because it is seldom just right for the occasion. A prize will be given to the one who receives the most applause in each class. All participants will be numbered and any member may enter this informal fashion show.

Mrs. Eli Travis is in charge, and has asked those who plan to enter to be present on time and to report to her. Mrs. Adolph Rake and Mrs. Earl Primrose have requested each member to bring a wrapped Christmas gift for a resident of the County Home with an accompanying Christmas card.

The hostess chairman is Mrs. John D. Garcia. The reception committee will include Mrs. Russell Scott and Mrs. Foster Minnich.

Drum And Bugle Corp Aux. Is Organized

Bangor—An auxiliary to the Bangor Drum and Bugle Corps of Post 378, E. H. Evans American Legion was organized last night to assist the corps.

Mrs. Robert George was elected president; Mrs. Earl Randolph, vice president; Mrs. Frank Stenlake Jr., secretary; Mrs. Ralph Bonney, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Starner, historian.

The group plans to meet on the first Monday of each month.

PO of A Party

Tannersville—P. O. of A. Lodge 151 met on Dec. 1 with Dora Hartman, president, in charge. The organization is planning their Christmas party for December 15, when each member is to bring a 25c gift for exchange. A social hour followed the business period with several games being played.

Legend, Play At Meeting Of Lydia Circle

The Lydia Circle of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church held its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, Lackawanna Ave., on Wednesday night.

The program featured the history of the legends of Christmas flowers given by Mrs. Robert Wright, and a play in verse given by Mrs. Clifford Cramer. Mrs. Albert Sommer led the devotions assisted by Mrs. Morris Peckman and Mrs. Holbrook.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Growing Number Of Women In Public Service

Washington, (AP)—There now are more women in Congress, in state legislatures and in other state elective offices than ever before.

This was shown yesterday by the 1953 annual survey of "women in public service," made by the women's division of the Republican National Committee. Anne Wheaton, publicity director of the division, said the survey covered women of all party affiliations and classifications.

Bertha Adkins, division director, said the survey "reflects the ever-increasing recognition of women and their qualifications for important places in government."

She added that the Eisenhower administration already has named women to 40 important positions, some never before held by women.

"Similarly, the list of women in state appointive positions is outstanding in states with Republican governors," she said.

In the 83rd Congress, reconvening Jan. 6, there are 12 women members—1 Republican in the Senate; 6 Republicans and 5 Democrats in the House.

Back in 1920, the first year of federal women suffrage, there were but 29 women in state legislatures. Now there are 289, a gain of 54 over 1952.

Only four states do not have women lawmakers—Alabama Nebraska, Oklahoma and Virginia.

The political lineup in state legislatures is as follows: 199 Republicans, 87 Democrats, 1 independent and 2 without party designation.

Thirty-one women in 21 states —a record total—now hold top state-wide elective positions. Of these, 16 are Republicans, 14 Democrats and 1, Mrs. Pearl A. Wanamaker, Washington state superintendent of public instruction, listed po party designation.

Alabama has both a woman secretary of state and a woman state treasurer as well as a judge on the court of appeals. Five other states have women secretaries of state—Connecticut, Minnesota, New Mexico, South Dakota and Virginia.

Women, however, have lost a bit of ground, numerically speaking, in the federal government service. Women federal employes in October numbered about 494,000 or 22 per cent of total civilian employment in the United States. In 1952 there were about 600,000 or 25 per cent.

Of the women now in federal service about 1,200 have positions of high policy-making and administrative authority.

Board Okays Committee Appointments

Bangor — Superintendent of Schools Donald B. Keat and high school Principal Trever Williams presented for approval a list of committee appointments for the 1953-54 term to the Bangor Board of Education at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

In presenting these appointments both administrators said a curriculum study is presently underway throughout both the elementary and secondary schools in the district. They informed the board that this program is the result of several workshop and consultant conferences, at which time leading educators from nearby instiutions of higher learning served in an advistery capacity.

This was sponsored by the local branch, Pennsylvania State Education Association, of which the Bangor teachers have a 100 per cent membership. These conferences have been held during the past year and plans have been made for their continuation throughout the present school year.

Underlying objectives in this program are to correlate the elementary and secondary curriculum to a greater degree and to make a further study of the ever increasing educational, political, religious, industrial, and vocational post graduate demands in present day youth.

Superintendent Keat stated that the program is one that will not bring immediate results but will definitely bear fruit within a short span of a few years. Mr. Williams in concurring with the Superintendent's sentiments stated that education is a slow process and a long range program sunch as this one is certain to improve our academic standards.

The following committee appointments were presented and approved:

Curriculum advisory—Amon Williams, George Ott, Hazel Branch, Dorothy Everitt and Trever Williams; principal's advisory—Mark Bennett, Millard Glein, J. L. Williams; mental and emotional health—Arnold Wynne, Chairman, Marie Godshalk, Paul Wagner, and Adalyne Duvall; family living—Hazel Branch, chairman, Ruth Beebe; development of study habits and reading—John Pearsoll, chairman, Evelyn Reimel, Margery Trayes, and Beulah McFall;

Mathematics—Mildred Stoddard, chairman, Mark Bennett, Paul LeBar, Olive Hamm; citizenship—J. Williams, chairman, Armon Williams, Millard Gleim, Samuel Smith, David Thomas; fine arts—Robert Doney, chairman, Donald White, Earl Rader; technical education—Jay Young, chairman, George Ott, John Heard; development of high school program in preparation for post high school ed.—Florence Giaquinto, Armon Williams, J. L. Williams and Millard Geim;

Other committes or departments business education — Chairman, John Heard, Lois Nester, Dorothy Pichel; English—Margaret Rockwell, chairman, Carmela Finelli, Earl Rader, John Pearsall, Evelyn Reimel; health and home economics—Hazel Branch, chairman, Paul Wagner, Dorothy Everitt, Marie Godshalk; science — Stirling Schmoyer, chairman, Granville Evans, Henry Williams, Enio Conti; vocational education—George Ott, chairman, Madison Owen, Jay Young; public relations—John L. Williams and Armon Williams.

Heated Outdoor Swimming Pool Attracts Teen-Agers

Mount Pocono—A group of a half dozen teen-age guests of Skyline Inn last weekend tested the efficiency of the heated outdoor swimming pool by plunging in when the thermometer in the autumn air registered 25 degrees. Water temperature in the pool was a summery 72 degrees, keeping the swimmers comfortable while the onlookers shivered. This was the final use of the heating for this season and the pool will not be warmed up again until early Spring.

The swimmers, who were enthusiastic about the experience, are members of the Young Life Club, which took over Skyline Inn for the weekend by special arrangement with manager J. Frank Birdsall Jr. The Young Life Club with about 200 high school boys and girls and their leaders and chaperones called their stay a "camp-out," since they brought their own linen and did all the service and housekeeping, including waiting on table, while Skyline provided six meals, two nights lodging and full use of its sports and recreational facilities.

Nixon Assures India On U. S. Foreign Policy

New Delhi, India (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon tried before a joint session of Parliament last night—without a notable response—to explain American foreign policies the Indians do not accept.

Indian leaders made it clear they do not intend to abandon their neutrality or markedly change their international views.

Aware of concern here over the influence of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Nixon told parliament President Eisenhower will make U. S. foreign policy "and you can be sure the President will be supported overwhelmingly by the majority of the people."

The visiting American official, Eisenhower's envoy on an Asian tour, emphasized that the President, who acts with the help of key advisers, is trying to insure peace by maintaining sufficient military strength "to keep men of the Communist nations from thinking they can start a war and win it."

Americans "believe Communist colonialism is still colonialism," Nixon said. "We intend to stand with the free nations in resisting that type of colonialism and to help other peoples rid themselves of colonialism of the past."

He spoke before some 500 members of both houses of Parliament. Forty Communists boycotted the session.

Indian Vice President Saravapalli Radhakrishnan expressed hope, in introducing Nixon, that he would report to Eisenhower on the aspirations of South Africa and Asia which "a vanishing past is trying to stifle."

After Nixon completed his speech, Radhakrishnan said "we have faith in freedom and faith in friendship with all nations."

Earlier Prime Minister Nehru accused the United States of supporting colonialism in Indochina and parts of Africa—though he said there is no doubt it does not favor old-style colonialism—and again urged American recognition of Communist China as a "historical fact."

A critic of many phases of U. S. policy, Nehru told three American newsmen in a 35-minute interview there are differences in approach but no basic chasm between his nation and the United States, "no ill will by the Indian people toward the American people."

Pocono Pines School Paper Announces Publication Date

Pocono Pines—The special Christmas issue of "Tohito," quarterly newspaper-magazine published by students of Tobyhanna Township School, will appear on Dec. 22.

Supervising Principal C. Willis Dunlap announced the publication date yesterday.

The newspaper is the "oldest extra-curricular activity of the school," Dunlap said. "Tohito" was started 23 years ago as a class project under direction of Mrs. Harry Miller, the former Kathryn Griffith.

Students publish the newspaper four times each year—an Autumn issue, Spring edition and graduation issue rounding out the list.

Margaret Smith and Larry Moyer are co-editors of "Tohito." Associate editors are Beverly Keiper and Gloria Franks.

Other staff members include: Marilyn Miller and Alice Guida, art editors; Joseph Sylvainus, sports editor; Roger Altemose and Willis Fischer, advertising managers.

Anne Marie Fedin, Richard Cary, Priscilla Miller, Joseph DeSanto, Josephine Smith and Evelyn Elwine are reporters.

Joan Coleman is humor editor this year. Jack Walt and John Sipple are machinists.

Advisers are Miss Alice Finnerty and Mr. Dunlap.

Publication of the student newspaper will be one of the highlights of the Tobyhanna Township School's Christmas observance this year.

Other events, including school programs, will be announced as they are scheduled by school officials.

Favorable Reports Made By Council

Henryville—The Pocono Union Administrative Council met in the church here with the following in attendance: Rev. C. F. Spangenberg, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Sallie Henry, Mrs. Steward Bush, Mrs. Vida Sickler, Mrs. Arthur Post, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry and a guest, Mrs. May White. A report was given on the successful home coming services held recently. After the church treasurer's report was made by Mrs. Martha Henry, and Sunday School report by Mrs. Paul Barry in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Henry Baumann. Both were favorable, with substantial balances.

Discussion followed on the question of janitor's salary, with the result that there will be an increase pending favorable action by the Sunday School. It was decided that offering envelopes will be distributed for the fuel fund, with the Sunday School agreeing to share the expense.

An encouraging report was given by the treasurer of the cemetery trustee board, Mrs. Vida Sickler, showing great financial progress.

MRS. MARLANE MacLANE KOWALL, of Van Nuys, Calif., reveals at a Subversives Activities Control Board hearing in Washington that she served as a secret FBI informant in the Communist Party from 1947 to 1950. She is the daughter of movie actor Barton MacLane. The board is conducting hearings to determine if the Jefferson School of Social Science in New York City is a Communist front.

400,000 Applicants Return Forms For Driver's Licenses

Harrisburg, (AP)—More than 400,000 applications for 1954 motor vehicle operator's licenses have been received by the State Revenue Department.

"This figure represents only a small part of the estimated 4,300,000 license renewal forms we mailed out on Nov. 24 and 25," said Robert I. Shreffler, assistant director of the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicles Bureau.

"We expect to hit our peak of 130 temporary employes tomorrow to handle the incoming applications," Shreffler said.

The bureau has a permanent staff of 1,150 employes to which temporary workers were added gradually since Oct. 19.

"At the present time we are not getting the applications processed and the licenses in the mail as rapidly as we will in a few more days," he explained.

About 100,000 of the applications already received have been processed and mailed to the operators.

Within a week, he said, "we will have the processing operation geared up to a point where we will be able to handle the applications the same day they come into the bureau."

The number of licensed drivers in the state this coming year is expected to top the 1953 mark by about 15505,000, Shreffler estimated.

The $1 licenses go into effect throughout the state at midnight, Jan. 31.

Shreffler promised that all the applications will be handled and the operators will have their licenses before the deadline.

Is it counterfeit? A magnifying glass soon will prove it!

Is It Good Money--Or Bad? Counterfeiting Is Doomed If Only Everyone Will Help

By Grover Brinkman
Central Press Correspondent

Washington — You handle dollar bills daily. However, do you ever see one? Do you ever look at one closely? Do so, and you'll see one of the finest pieces of engraving in the world. The portrait is life-like, eyes clear and distinct. The fine lines that form the small squares are painstakingly etched in perfect detail.

Counterfeit bills often come very near the genuine. But no matter how hard a counterfeiter tries, he falls somewhere. All it takes to spot a piece of hot money is an observant eye and a little knowledge. A magnifying glass is helpful.

An Illinois storekeeper recently made the news when she spotted a fake $10 bill that had been passed as genuine by the local bank. The lady called the sheriff, and as a result a ring of four counterfeiters operating in the area were soon rounded up. You can be just as helpful.

Here are a few pointers that will help you spot counterfeit money:

Check the portrait: on a counterfeit, it is usually dull, smudgy or unnaturally white. Details are often scratchy. The overall background behind the portrait is dark with irregular or broken lines. The portrait usually merges into the background instead of standing out sharp and clear.

The colored seal under "Washington, D.C., is often a complete give-away. The sawtooth points on the counterfeit are usually uneven, broken off, irregular. On a genuine bill, the points around the rim are even, sharp and clearly defined.

Serial numbers on a counterfeit bill are usually poorly printed, inaccurately spaced and uneven. On a genuine, the figures are firm, even, well spaced. The paper on a counterfeit usually has no silk threads. (Although counterfeiters imitate these by tiny red and blue ink lines). Hold the bill up to the light and the genuine is easily noticed.

A counterfeiter often alters a genuine bill to a larger denomination. You should automatically know the portraits on our money. George Washington appears on all one dollar bills; Jefferson on the two dollar note; Lincoln on the five; Hamilton on tens, and Jackson on twenties.

Any bill larger than a $20 should be examined with extreme care. Remember the portrait of Grant is on the $50 note and Franklin on the $100 bill.

Perhaps the mounting cost of living is responsible for the fact that in recent years, the counterfeiting of bills has increased while the counterfeiting of coins has declined. Even so, there are enough phony coins in circulation to warrant a bit of attention to the details that tell a good coin from a bad.

Dropping the coin on a hard surface often gives it away—genuine has a bell-like ring, counterfeit a dull thud. The corrugated outer edge called the reeding is fine and even, and distinct on a good; usually battered and indistinct on the fake. Most phony coins can be easily cut with a knife, and even have a different "feel" from the genuine.

Every year we lose billions of dollars to passers of counterfeit money. These criminals capitalize on our carelessness. We're so busy making money that we don't take time to examine it as it comes in.

Remember, not all strangers are counterfeiters, but all counterfeiters are very likely to be strangers. If you want to receive the Treasury department's Secret Service mailing list of known counterfeit bills in circulation, with a complete description of them, simply send your name and address to the United States Secret Service office nearest to you. There is no charge and, as new counterfeits turn up, you will receive prompt information.

Should a stranger hand you a counterfeit bill, there are certain steps the Treasury department hopes you will follow: Do not return it. Delay the passer under some pretext. Don't tell him you suspect the bill. Telephone the police at once.

Also study the person tendering you the bill and if the passer leaves, immediately write down his description before you forget it. Get his auto license number if possible.

If the passer becomes impatient or starts an argument, do not return the bill under any circumstances. Simply tell him the law requires that any one in doubt about the authenticity of currency is to let the police make the decision.

The Secret Service believes that counterfeiting can be next to eliminated—if only you'll help!

'Your Health'

From The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania and the Monroe County Medical Society

Dermatologists describe the dangers of dallying in the dishpan.

Dishpan hands is but one of the skin disorders to which a housewife is exposed.

The skin is an important organ separating, as it does, the person from his environment.

Acting as a barrier, the skin also serves as a sensory organ.

There are many mechanisms which provoke inflammatory skin diseases of the housewife's hands.

Injuries result from friction, heat, cold, moisture, soaking, radiation and scratching.

Contactants bringing injury to the skin of the hands are soaps, detergents, polishes and cleaners.

Rubber, or plastic articles and nickel, are frequent offenders.

Allergic reactions to certain substances bring on skin trouble.

Parasites, such as viruses, bacteria and fungi, as well as animal parasites, invade the skin.

Added to all of these is the possibility of skin disorder due to nervous, mental or psychiatric disturbances.

Nutritional deficiences, defects in metabolism, and hormonal imbalances often cause skin upsets.

Young housewives, especially, are subject to the dangers of skin conditions as they go about their daily chores.

The home can be hazardous to housewives.

Exchange Club To Sponsor Yule Music

Bangor—A week of amplified organ music to be heard in all parts of this borough was announced this week by the Exchange Club.

The music will be played Dec. 20-25.

Carols will be played by Robert Miller, 18, of Flicksville, originating from the Hough furniture store here. Local residents will sing during the week.

Miss Mildred Ribble, executive director of Northampton County Department of Public Assistance, spoke at the regular meeting. She is a former Bangor resident.

Next meeting will be Dec. 16, at Bangor House, with Rev. John A. Reagle, Mount Bethel, as speaker.

Modern brass is an alloy mostly of copper and zinc, although in early times it referred to the alloy of copper and tin which we call bronze.

Special Feast Highlights Traditional Celebration

In every part of the world where Christmas is observed, a special feast usually highlights the celebration of the holidays. And, certainly, in our country an old fashioned family dinner on Christmas has always been an important part of the Yuletide tradition.

To many Americans, Christmas just isn't Christmas without a turkey dinner complete with ALL the trimmings. To almost all homemakers, this means many days of planning and preparation.

It adds greatly to the family's fun if the children are allowed to help with Christmas preparations. Let them lend a hand with all the fancy little "extras" that add such an exciting holiday touch!

For a delectable garnish for the turkey platter, try frosted grapes! Select the big, purple variety and cut into small clusters. Wash and drain well. Dip the clusters in to a mixture of ¼ cup of white corn syrup and ½ cup of water and drain. Sprinkle heavily with granulated sugar and chill. The sparkling grapes will add a special-occasion note to the platter.

As a decorative (and delicious) addition to your dessert plate, serve tiny pears and apples of tasty cheese. Cut processed cheese into small cubes and form the miniature fruit. Insert a whole clove into the blossom end and an ivy stem for the stem and sprinkle with nutmeg and paprika and circle your pumpkin, mince or apple pie.

One phase of your Christmas cookery that the children will love is the cooky baking project. Try making a basic sugar cooky recipe and let the children cut them into imaginative shapes.

They can make jolly Santas, stars, snow men, holiday wreaths, Christmas stockings or tiny trees. If fancy cutters aren't available for all the shapes desired, let the children cut the cookies around a cardboard pattern.

After they're baked, mix bright red, green, and white frostings and let the kiddies decorate to their hearts' content with gumdrops, red cinnamon candies, licorice, and bits of candied fruit.

For unusual place cards on the Christmas table, try frosted cup cakes decorated to resemble Christmas tree ornaments. With your cake decorating set, make the outline of an ornament and write each name in the circle. Or bake tiny oblong cakes, cover with white frosting, and decorate to resemble tiny gift packages with colored frosting ribbon and bow. Write the name in frosting on the "gift" and put at each place.

The day before Christmas, cut oranges in half and scoop out the shells. "Pink" the edges with a sharp knife and put cranberry sauces in these decorative cups to chill. They'll add a gay holiday touch to the Christmas dinner plate.

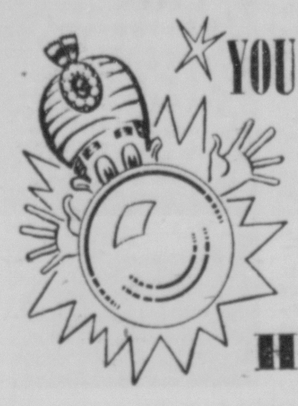

There's something about homemade candy at Christmas that seems to add just the right old-fashioned touch . . . so, gather the family together for a candy-making spree.

So, allow an extra day or two for the preparation of Yuletide goodies . . . Try these delightful touches that will make Christmas dinner a real holiday feast!

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Baseball will always be the greatest of games in this scribe's humble opinion, but the men directing the major leagues at the present time sometime make the average fan wonder. Take the case of Alex Grammas, the smooth fielding shortstop owned by the Cincinnati Reds, who played with Kansas City, of the American Association, last summer. It was announced at Atlanta, Ga. on Wednesday that the Reds had traded him to the St. Louis Cardinals for John Crimian, a relief pitcher with Rochester, International League, last season.

Actually the deal between the Reds and Cardinals was completed late last summer. Members of the Kansas City club knew that Alex was a member of the St. Louis organization prior to the Little World Series in October. Grammas received the well wishes of all the Blues when he departed for home, especially those of the pitchers, whom he protected time after time with sparkling plays. The average fan must also wonder just what goes between the Commissioner's office and the club owners. The present pension question raging between players, owners and Commissioner Ford Frick, reveal that Frick, the league presidents and the owners appear to have taken a solid stand against the players.

The players hired a lawyer to represent them recently, but he isn't allowed to sit in on important meetings. The players appear to be bucking up against three teams in the Commissioner, league presidents and the owners. Not like in the old days of Judge Landis, the greatest friend a baseball player ever knew. Although the players, as of yesterday, appeared to be losing the fight to be represented by a lawyer, don't sell them short. The player is still the backbone of the game and he still makes the turnstyles click.

While the major leagues are trying to straighten out their pension question, the Lehigh Valley League has completed plans for its annual Christmas Invitation Basketball Tournament, with East Stroudsburg High among the entries. The Cavaliers were eliminated in the first round last year, but Coach Dick Forster and company hope to do better this trip to the hardwood. This tournament, held each year at Smith Hill, Slatington, pits four members of the Lehigh Valley League against the world one year and the other four clubs the next.

The league releases a partial pre-tournament expense account each year. This season it calls for $48 for officials; $35 for Smith Hall rental; $15 for ticket sellers; $9 for police; $10, for scorer and timer; $6 for janitors and $10 for president and secretary-treasurer. The tournament is held for four days so the $133 must be multiplied four times for the true expense involved — a total of $532. Each team taking part in the tournament, are presented with 20 free tickets the night they play. This will be the third year for the affair.

Northampton High School representatives revealed at Wednesday's Lehigh Valley League meeting in Slatington, that the play-by-play commentary on the public address system at Wolfe Field will be halted in the future and that the man who does the talking has already been reprimanded. Several schools complained about the practice at the meeting and prior to the gathering. Jack Morris, the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College tackle who gained honorable mention on the Associated Press All-State grid machine, is interested in playing pro-football.

Joe Shea, former East Stroudsburg High football star, was on hand to watch Army scuttle Navy last Saturday. Joe no doubt is anxiously waiting for the day he will wear the gray, black and gold colors of Army on the same field. Joe, still an enlisted man in Uncle Sam's Army, is currently studying for a second crack at the West Point entrance examination. Shea missed by the narrow margin of two mathematical problems of gaining admission to the Point last spring. Everyone's rooting for the big guy this time.

Pete Carlesimo, University of Scranton football and basketball coach, recently did a quick change. He coached the Royals to victory over Hofstra on Thanksgiving Day and the next day was at the helm of his basketball forces at the Scranton Youth Center. In his spare time Pete has a television show, does radio programs and appears as a banquet speaker throughout northeastern Pennsylvania. Carlesimo has made an outstanding name for himself as a banquet speaker in this area. Pete will bring his cage Royals to ESSTC next Thursday to battle the Warriors.

If a fourth team doesn't put in an appearance within a week it looks like curtains for the Senior YMCA Basketball League this winter. East Stroudsburg High scrimmaged Port Jervis in basketball yesterday. The meeting of the Pocono Mountains Basketball League at Bartonsville Hotel next Wednesday is very important. The success or failure of the venture will hinge on this gathering.

Hackettstown Shows Power In Nightcap

Portland — Stroudsburg Poconos won, but the Grand Theater fell by the wayside in a Blue Mountain League basketball doubleheader here at the Portland School last night.

The Poconos rolled to a convincing 65-54 victory over the Portland Apollos in the opening encounter, while the Grand Theater bowed before a strong Hackettstown club in the nightcap, 69-51.

Stroudsburg had no trouble at all in the first contest, jumping off to a 20-6 lead at the end of the first stanza and then stretching the advantage to 40-22 at the halfway mark. The Poconos held the upper hand in the second stanza, 20-16.

The Poconos held a slim 14-13 advantage in the third period, as Jim Frailey "zipped" the cords from all angles. Portland held the upper hand in the last eight minutes, 19-11, but the spurt came too late to change the tide of battle.

Stroudsburg's win was its second of the young campaign without a setback.

Frailey, Henry "Hank" Stetler and Dave Everitt paced the winning attack with 14, 14 and 10 counters respectively. Kelly was the top point producer in the game as he tallied 19 markers for Portland.

Even Half

The Grand Theater battled Hackettstown on even terms in the first half of the nightcap, but the powerful quintet from New Jersey rallied sharply in the third period to win the game, as the East Stroudsburg force was held to a lone field goal in the third round.

Hackettstown held a 14-13 advantage at the end of the first period, but the Grand Theater bounced back to earn a 16-16 draw in the second stanza and trailed by one point, 30-29, at halftime.

The Jersey five ran wild in the third quarter, 17-2, to take a commanding lead, and then protected its lead with a 22-20 advantage in the final quarter.

Grand Theater made good on eight of 17 foul shots, while Hackettstown rang the bell from the same distance on five of 10 tosses.

Harold "Hair" Staples and Ray Steele led the Grand Theater scoring with 10 points each. Every member of the Hackettstown club broke into the point column, with Phillips leading the way with 14 markers.

The Poconos and Grand Theater clash at Stroudsburg High school on Monday, at 8 p.m.

Fall River, Mass., (AP)—Johnny Saxton, 150, of New York, knocked out Herman McCray, 144, of Philadelphia, with a series of lefts and rights to the head at 1:10 in the third roound of their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout last night at the Casino.

Verwey, Zukowski Elected Co-Captains Of Grid Cavaliers

John Verwey and Dick Zukowski yesterday were elected honorary co-captains of the 1953 East Stroudsburg High School football team by their teammates.

Two ballots were required before the pair of seniors were officially named to receive the captain honors. Don Herman, regular end, was the only other close candidate in the balloting.

Verwey and Zukowski are both veterans of two years on the varsity and each played a major role in this season's football success of the Cavaliers.

End

Zukowski held down an end position and handled all of the punting chores, among which were at least two 60-yard boots. Zukowski also performed as an able pass receiver.

Verwey, tackle on the left side of the East Stroudsburg forward wall, was a 48-minute performer in most of the games played by the Cavaliers. Verwey was relieved for a substitution only in games in which the charges of Coach Jack Kist held a commanding lead.

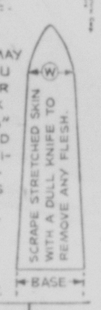

East Stroudsburg finished the 1953 campaign with a record of seven victories and three defeats.

Lattner On Spot For SMU Battle

South Bend, Ind., (AP)—Seldom has a college football player been spotlighted and on the spot as halfback Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame will be against Southern Methodist in Saturday's nationally-televised game here.

Lattner yesterday was named by The Associated Press to the 1953 All-America team after earlier in the week winning the coveted Heisman and Maxwell Awards.

Only Once

Thus the millions watching on television (NBC) at 2 p.m. (EST) and the 55,000 on hand personally will expect quite a performance from Chicago Johnny, the 190-pound balance wheel of the unbeaten but once tied Fighting Irish.

It may be well to remind the vast audience that Lattner only once this season—last Saturday against Southern California—has been a really spectacular player.

Munroe Lands Verdict

Worcester, Mass., (AP)—Curly Munroe, 139½, of Worcester, left jabbed and hooked in effective fashion to gain a unanimous 10-round decision that ruined the American boxing debut of Jacques Julien, 138, Paris, France, last night at Mechanics Hall.

Middleweights Clash Tonight

New York, (AP)—Joey Giambra and Jimmy Herring, a couple of middleweight boxers handsome enough to be in pictures, will try to scramble each others features at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Odds

Herring, a blonde, 21-year-old New Yorker, has a slight edge in looks but Giambra, a 22-year-old dark-haired Buffalo puncher, is a decided favorite in the odds.

The bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) starting at 10 p. m. (EST). There's not likely to be much of a crowd in the big Garden. The newspaper strike has kept news of the fight a deep secret to most of the fight fans hereabouts.

Aussie Net Youths Reach Final Round

Melbourne (AP) — Australia's teenage tennis wizards, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, swept into the finals of the Victorian championships yesterday and sent Davis Cup confidence here skyrocketing to a new high.

Around the Kooyong tennis courts they were laying three to one the Aussies would beat America's best in the challenge round here December 28-30.

Harry Hopman, non-playing captain of the Down Under forces who also is tennis writer for one of the Melbourne papers, is trying to forestall any over-confidence on the part of his impressionable young athletes, although the way things have been going for the United States representatives lately, that looks like a difficult job.

Almost Flawless

Rosewall, top seeded in the tournament, was almost flawless at times as he scored a methodical 6-1, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1 victory over George Worthington, the boy who beat Wimbledon Champion Vic Seixas.

Hoad was even more impressive as he belted out Rex Hartwig of the Australian team 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. Hartwig previously beat U. S. Champion Tony Talbert.

Rio Grande Loses, 'Bevo' Hits For 32

New York, (AP)—Adelphi College of Garden City, N. Y., whipped Rio Grande College 83-76 in the opening college basketball doubleheader at Madison Square Garden last night although "Bevo" Francis scored 32 points in his metropolitan debut. Rio Grande had won 40 games in a row.

Francis, a six-foot nine sensation from the Ohio hill country, was held to 14 points in the second half as the New Yorkers caged him in a collapsing five man zone defense.

Lafayette Bows

St. John's of Brooklyn, runnerup in last season's National Invitation Tournament, turned back a fourth quarter rally and defeated Lafayette College 66161 in the second game.

Despite the fact that all six major New York newspapers are on strike and the doubleheader received virtually no advance publicity, a crowd of 13,832 showed up—a tribute to Bevo's drawing power.

Minor Leagues Vote To Ask For Television Restrictions

Atlanta, (AP)—The Minor Leagues yesterday voted to ask for a ban on big league commercial radio-TV in minor league cities while a minor club is playing at home or away in a resolution tailored to fit the recent Federal Court decision on pro football.

Sen. Edwin Johnson (D-Colo), president of the Western League and chairman of the Radio-TV Committee, submitted the plan to restore broadcast restrictions that were removed under Justice Department pressure in 1951.

The minor's action was in the form of a resolution, petitioning the majors to take immediate action. It will be presented next week at the major league sessions in New York. One big league representative said "it has a fighting chance."

Demand

Under the Johnson plan, sustaining non commercial broadcasts would be permitted at any time without consent as long as no money changes hands on the deal. There would be no restrictions on any broadcasts by the majors by stations located in big league cities.

Presumably the minors would demand money from the majors before giving permission for any commercial broadcast on stations in their home territory, an area within 50 miles of the minor club's park.

Radio broadcasts into minor league territory long has been a subject for bitter dispute in the minors. In recent years the television problem had become more acute.

Sports Editor Of Easton Express Dies

Easton, (AP)—Charles A. Reilly, sports editor of the Easton Express, died yesterday at Easton Hospital. He was 66.

His widow, Mary; two sons, Eugene, co-publisher of the Centre Daily Times at State College, Pa., and Charles Jr., a Navy commander, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Eaton, of Albany, N. Y., survive.

Veteran

Reilly has been sports editor for the Express for 33 years and has been in the newspaper business in Easton for approximately 50 years.

The well known sports writer first became ill in 1950 and has been in and out of the hospital almost constantly since that time.

Long Distance Goal

Troy, Ohio, (AP)—Troy's George Edwards scored a 150-foot goal in the final period last night to cinch a 7-5 victory over Johnstown in an International Hockey League game, before 3,002 fans.

Lattner, Giel Set Pace On AP's 1953 All-America Football Squad

By Ted Smits

New York, (AP)—Two great Midwestern backs, John Lattner of Notre Dame and Paul Giel of Minnesota, occupy the spotlight on The Associated Press 1953 All-America football team announced yesterday.

They are the only repeaters from the 1952 team. Paul Cameron of UCLA and David "Kosse" Johnson of Rice, round out the first team backfield.

The team was selected on the recommendation of boards of newspaper and radio experts representing every region of the country. It takes into account all the season's games through November 28.

Rounding out the first team are Don Dohoney of Michigan State and Sam Morley of Stanford at ends, Stanley Jones of Maryland and Jack Shanafelt of Penn at tackles, J. D. Roberts of Oklahoma and Crawford Mims of Mississippi at guards, and Larry Morris of Georgia Tech at center.

With the change in the substitution rule, the AP has returned to a single first team instead of offensive and defensive squads.

The development of versatile, 60-minute football players such as were known a decade ago brought much sharper focus on personalities in 1953. As a result, the redoubtable players that made up the first All-America were closely challenged by the 1953 second team, the backfield of which is comprised of Bernie Faloney of Maryland, J. C. Caroline of Illinois, Bob Garrett of Stanford, and Bobby Cavazos of Texas Tech.

Light Ends

The All-American line is big through center but light at the ends. Dohoney at 193 and Morley, at 185, are below average in size, but powerful. Dohoney was most spectacular on defense, and in Michigan State's defeat of Minnesota 21-0 was largely responsible for holding Giel to a net of only 23 yards. Morley was at his best on offense, catching 45 passes for 594 yards and six touchdowns to lead the Pacific Coast Conference.

Jones, of Lemoyne, Pa., was the line stalwart of Maryland's unbeaten team, the national champions. Shanafelt was great on an overmatched Penn team, and Mims stood out on a team that bowed twice in defeat. Roberts was outstanding on Oklahoma's mighty line. Morris, the only junior on the first team—all the rest being seniors—was largely responsible for Georgia Tech's fine record.

The only colleges to place more than one man on the three teams are Maryland, with Jones on the first and Faloney on the second.

Former Bangor High Athletes Discuss Old Times With Coach

By John Heard

Bangor—Memories of bygone days were recollected frequently and furiously at the recent annual Exchange Club football dinner in honor of Bangor High's football squads, when Dr. Harold Odell, principal of Montclair, N. J. High School and former Bangor High football coach, was the guest speaker.

Granville Evans

Among the many present were former students of Dr. Odell and members of his football teams when he coached the Slaters in 1929-1930.

During his address, Odell recalled many pleasant memories of his stay in Bangor. He related many humorous incidents involving many of his former ballplayers. For many hours after the dinner, reacquaintances were made and many more stories of the "good old days" followed. Odell and his former protege were thrilled over this reunion after more than a decade.

Among those present and figuring prominently in Odell's recollections of his coaching years at Bangor were Alfred Honey, James Caiazzo and Harold Ferris, now of Bangor; Nicholas Rosato and George Giaquinto, Roseto; Bill Kern, East Bangor; Stanley "Welsh" Williams and Dr. Frank Capobianco, Pen Argyl; Ted Mazza, Hellertown; Joseph Ciliberti, Philadelphia; Bill Berkowitz, Easton; Pat Tedesco, of Lodi, N. J., and present coaches at Bangor High School, Granville "Fat" Evans and John L. "Jabby" Williams.

Pleasant Memories

With the annual Thanksgiving Day game with Pen Argyl approaching at that time, Odell recalled with pleasant memory the two years he coached victorious Bangor teams. He recalled the 6-0 win over Pen Argyl on a snow-covered field in 1929 and the much recalled 21-0 upset over a talented Pen Argyl eleven on the hard-crusted Bangor ice house field the following year. Oldsters in the Slate Belt will remember this game as the "alleged water-covered field by the Bangor firemen."

Much good-natured bantering went on among the former coach and former players over the many games played in 1929-30. Some of those involved were contests played against Stroudsburg and Nazareth as well as the Pen Argyl encounters.

Many of Odell's players went on to gain fame on various college gridirons. Ted Mazza, for instance, cavorted for Moravian College, winning Little All-America mention and All-State honors. He, along with Eddie Haney, a teammate, hold the record for the longest pass play completed at Moravian. Haney was the thrower and Mazza the receiver.

Present Bangor High coaches Granville Evans and J. L. Williams also cavorted for Moravian. Evans was a lineman and Williams a back.

Ted Tedesco went on to perform at Rider College in Trenton, N. J. There he was also a member of the wrestling and swimming teams winning many wrestling crowns. Dr. Frank Capobianco performed in the backfield of Lafayette, and Joe Ciliberti went on to play at Franklin and Marshall as a back.

A good time was had by all and the reunion proved to be a terrifically happy one.

TTHS Lists Basketball Agenda

Majermen Open At Stroudsburg

Pocono Pines —Tobyhanna Township High school yesterday released a basketball schedule of 15 games, the first of which will be played today, at 4 p.m., against the Stroudsburg High Junior Varsity.

Today's tussle will take place on the Stroudsburg High court.

TTHS is currently in the midst of a rebuilding program, after winning the Monroe County League basketball crown for four straight campaigns.

Coach Carl Majer has been drilling his pupils steadily since Monday, November 2, in an attempt to fill the many holes left by graduation.

Two Returnees

Only two members of last season's TTHS powerhouse are members of the current squad.

The maroon and gold color bearers have scheduled five pre-season games in an effort to be in top condition when the Majermen go in quest of their fifth straight Monroe County League title next month.

Junior varsity action on the TTHS court is scheduled to begin at 7:15 p.m. and the main event almost immediately after the preliminary tussle.

Carter Stops Thomas

Newark, N. J., (AP)—Harold Carter, 190½, Linden, stopped "Ike" Thomas, 188, New York, in 1:38 of the fourth round of a scheduled feature eight at Laurel Garden last night.

Chestnuthill Launches Cage Season Tonight

Brodheadsville — Chestnuthill High school will launch its 1953-1954 basketball schedule tonight, with Coolbaugh providing the opposition, here on the Chestnuthill hardwood.

Coach Otto "Junior" Mills, head basketball and baseball mentor at Chestnuthill, last night released the 13-game schedule for the coming season.

Chestnuthill will take part in only three pre-season outings, the one tonight, one with Pocono and another against the Alumni. The other games will be in the Monroe County League.

Second Outing

Coolbaugh will enter tonight's game with one tussle under its belt, having dropped a close 40-37 verdict to Moscow on Tuesday of this week. The junior varsity contest will get underway at 7:15 p.m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

Mills announced that his Chestnuthill contingent would answer the starting whistle with Dick Kreger and Harry Possinger at the forward spots, Gene Meckes, center, and Don Conklin and Bill Everitt, guards.

Schedule follows:

Wayne County Cage Conference To Operate Under New Setup

Honesdale—In an effort to overcome inequities caused by the wide difference in the number of games played by its member teams, officials of the Wayne County Basketball Conference, have adopted a unique method of determining the championship in the 1953-1954 race.

In previous years, the conference title went to the team compiling the highest percentage on a win-loss basis. However, some teams played as many as 16 conference contests and some as few as eight, which might have led to serious problems in naming the winner had not Waymart's Warriors shown such clear superiority over the past four years.

Adopted last Spring, the new system is the outcome of careful study and thorough discussion and has the unanimous support of all schools in the conference for use during the current season.

Under the new plan, the conference will be divided into two divisions as follows:

Northern Division—Damascus, Pleasant Mount, Preston, Hawley, Honesdale, Lake Township and Waymart.

Southern Division—Greene-Dreher-Sterling, Moscow, Hawley, Honesdale, Lake Township and Waymart.

Both Divisions

It will be noted that four teams, Hawley, Honesdale, Lake Township and Waymart are listed in both divisions. These will be known as "cross-over" teams and will play all teams in the conference and will have opportunity to win the championship of either or both divisions.

When two "cross-over" teams meet, the winner will receive credit for victory in both divisions and the loser will be charged with a loss, again in both divisions. On the other hand, when a "cross-over" team plays a team which is strictly a member of one division, a win (or loss) will be registered in that division only.

Damascus, Pleasant Mount and Preston will play only teams in the Northern division and Greene-Dreher-Sterling and Moscow will play teams only in the Southern division.

Rader Begins Court Job At Bangor

Bangor—Earl Rader, named junior varsity basketball coach at Bangor High by the school board Wednesday night, is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, class of 1949.

Rader was hired at the beginning of the current school as head baseball coach, a task he will handle for the first time in the spring.

Easton Native

The new assistant cage mentor is a native of Easton and a graduate of Easton High. He taught at West Hampton Beach, Long Island, High school before coming to Bangor.

Rader succeeds Armon Williams, veteran teacher-coach at Bangor, who decided not to fill a coaching role this year. Williams is also secretary of the Blue Mountain Baseball League.

The new junior varsity cage mentor has been filling his new capacity this week.

Belgium Leads India In Tennis

Perth, (AP)—Belgium should clinch the Davis Cup inter-zone final against India with today's doubles.

In Front

Belgium gained a 2-0 lead in yesterday's singles. Philippe Washer beat India's captain, Sumant Misra, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, and Jacques Brichant got out of trouble to beat India's 16-year-old Ramanathan Kirshnan 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0.

Polk, Pocono, Barrett Play At Home

Pocono, Polk and Barrett High schools, all members of the Monroe County Basketball League, will unveil their cage machines before the home crowds for the first time this season tonight.

Polk has one game under its belt, having suffered a setback at the hands of Greene-Dreher-Sterling High, in Newfoundland, on Tuesday of this week.

The red and white clad Polk squad picks a larger school to battle tonight, when the charges of Coach Art Smith tangle with Pen Argyl High, here on the Kresgeville hardwood.

Initial Showing

Pocono will be making its initial showing of the present campaign tonight when the charges of Coach Harry Werkheiser play host to a strong Greene-Dreher cage machine. The Stags won over Polk on Tuesday and will be trying to make it two straight for the infant campaign.

The Pocono charges of Coach Harry Werkheiser will line up practically the same as last season.

Barrett, under the guidance of Coach Joe Murray, will also be making its initial appearance of the current campaign tonight, with Blairstown High providing the opposition.

The Barret club, considered by many as the team to beat in the Monroe County League this season, will be out to show winning form against the home town fans.

In each of tonight's three scheduled outings the junior varsity battle will begin at 7:15 and the varsity contest approximately one hour later.

Nazareth's Historic Place In Christmas Story Recalled

By Eric Gottgetreu

Nazareth, Israel, (AP)—Nazareth Christians do not forget that their city has a place in the Christmas story. It was here that the Angel Gabriel appeared and told Mary that she was to become the mother of Jesus. It was from Nazareth that Joseph and Mary set out on their first Christmas journey to Bethlehem.

Franciscan fathers this year are again setting up a huge manger scene in their Church of the Annunciation. Christmas Eve services will be broadcast. And there are several masses a day for many days before Christmas. The church is built above the grotto cut in the rock where Mary lived.

Greek Orthodox priests have their Church of St. Gabriel built over Mary's well. They believe the Annunciation took place at the well. Water flows from the spring and is piped to a spot where Nazareth housewives come to renew water supplies and gossip.

The Southern Baptist mission here also plans Christmas services. Carols will be sung in hospitals and orphanages by children from the Baptist home. The Protestant American colony is small, but it operates a school attended by Orthodox and Protestant children as well as by some Moslems.

More remote than Nazareth, both from the Christmas story and from roads traveled by visitors to the holy places is Tsippori. Like Nazareth, it is in Galilee and tradition has it that Mary was born there. It has been Hebrew, Greek, Turkish, Crusader, and is now largely Hebrew again.

Since early times when Tsippori was the capital of Galilee, there have been churches there in honor of Mary. Ruins of two remain and there is a small, active monastery today. It is headed by Father Samuel who is a student of the historic background of the life of Christ.

"I am happy to have been transferred to this forgotten place where, in a way, it all started from," he says. "Here, I feel at home."

About 85 Jewish immigrant families, mostly from Romania, are now developing an irrigation project near the town.

Christmas Potatoes

Serving fluffy mashed potatoes with your Christmas turkey? Then give them a festive air by adding a generous amount of finely chopped parsley and by garnishing with strips of canned pimiento.

Since 1925, the average life of the average U. S. motor vehicles when scrapped has increased from 6.5 years to 14 years and the average mileage from 25,750 to 121,000.

Pennsylvanians To Present Two Yule Programs

Two brilliant production sequences will be featured on the Fred Waring television show for Dec. 13 on CBS-TV, when Fred and the Pennsylvanians present the first of two Christmas television programs.

With music supplied by the Fred Waring glee club and orchestra, Bill and Cora Baird's puppets will appear in a musical adaptation of Clement Moore's famous poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas." This holiday fable, beloved by generations for its spirited story of a child's Christmas Eve, was ten years ago set to music by Harry Simeone of the Fred Waring staff. It has been a favorite on Fred's television and radio shows through the years.

Their madcap actions pantomiming the music, Baird's puppets will thrill young and old alike in a clever musical production. All the excitement of reindeer, children—even Santa Claus himself—play a part in the television presentation.

On the same program but in a more serious vein, dancer Nadine Gae joins the Pennsylvanians in the story of "Our Lady Juggler." The musical sequence is an adaptation of an ancient legend about a humble Juggler who has nothing to offer the Blessed Mother but his talent.

Though bystanders are shocked that such a ragged urchin dare approach the altar, he does his act. The statue comes to life and blesses him, proving that no matter how small the gift, it is the "attitude" of an offering which is most important in the eyes of God.

Christmas carols and music performed for sight and sound—will round out the program, which originates in New York at 9-9:30 p.m.

Sign Your Yule Cards Proper Way

Exchanging Christmas wishes with friends by sending gay greeting cards, is one of our most heart warming holiday customs. A wide range of styles prevails in cards, from the very informal to the most dignified greeting.

The type of card and the person to whom you're sending it should determine the signature used.

If your card is a cheery greeting to close friends, it should be signed simply with your first name — Mary; or, if married, Mary and George, followed by the last name.

With married couples, the one signing the cards always writes his or her name last. If the cards bear a printed signature, the wife's name is always first.

If there are several children in the family, it is usually preferable to have your cards signed or printed simply as a family; for example, "The Smiths."

Permit Youngsters To Join In Pre-Holiday Preparations

Christmas, more than any other day, should be a time of creating family traditions and the warm memories that last a lifetime.

From the very beginning, Christmas has been a family day. It began with a mother, a father, and a Child and has become the most precious day that a family can share.

Sharing is the key word in making your family Christmas a memorable occasion. Let each member of the family lend a helping hand in decorating the house with greens and red candles.

The pride of the little tots in their part of the Christmas decorating more than makes up for the not-quite-formal effect of the originally planned.

It's wonderful fun to set aside an evening to trim the tree and make it a family project. For a really old-fashioned Yuletide, let the children string popcorn and make sparkling ornaments for the tree.

After the tree is decorated and the twinkling lights are turned on for this first evening of your holiday season, make it a family party. While the children are proudly admiring their decorating job and their tree, serve hot cocoa and Christmas cookies or other refreshments.

Perhaps it will wind up in a songfest with everyone joining in singing all the family's best-loved Christmas carols.

Stretching out your Christmas season gives everyone a chance to enjoy each phase of the exciting preparations. Plan a special day for the children to help. All the Christmas treats will seem extra special if they have helped crack the nuts, cut up the candied fruits, or shape the cookies.

If there are little children in the family, allow a special day for the thrilling visit to Santa Claus in your local store. On this day, too, let them do their own Christmas gift shopping.

They'll be far prouder of the gifts they've picked out and bought on their own than any that they selected for them to give. These gifts will be the ones that will be remembered through the years, bringing heart-warming recollections of a child's imaginative choice of gifts!

A family evening of gift wrapping will help create happy memories of Christmas! What fun to recall the packages decorated with too many stickers, a bunchy bow, and marked with a carefully-printed card. The surprises, the giggles, and the secrecy are all part of this memory-making evening!

So, all it takes is a little extra time and a lot of sharing to make a family Christmas that will be remembered — just as you remember those of your childhood!

A group of archaeologists recently discovered the name of Jesus carved before 70 A.D. among inscriptions on 11 early Christian burial urns found in a cave on the Bethlehem-Jerusalem road.

Christmas Wardrobe In Good Taste

By Vivian Brown

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

The advent of Christmas calls for some little reminder that your appearance at church on that day should be in keeping with the spiritual significance of the occasion.

There is no need for flashy dress or makeup. Girls have been spotted at past Christmas services dressed like Christmas trees—from their star-studded headgear to the glittering ornaments of their ultraglamorous costumes.

Anyone lucky enough to have new wearables at Yuletide should enjoy wearing them to church. But the wardrobe should be in good taste. If Santa presented you with a red velvet skating costume try to resist the urge to wear it to service. Or if you've made a beanie of shiny Christmas ornaments for holiday party wear, save it for just that purpose.

While the girl who would dress too ornately should be discouraged, one who treats Christmas church as "a hurdle to get over with" — dashing in late and leaving early, barely put together, is another offender.

Thought should be put into the dignity of your grooming on Christmas day. Wear neatly pressed clothes, see that stocking seams are straight and shoes are polished.

Use just enough makeup to enhance your appearance. And indicate your respect for your particular house of worship by arriving a few minutes before services and staying until they are over.

It is rude, too, to engage in distracting conversation with other churchgoers about your fortunes from Santa's sack. Save those tidbits for your social gatherings later.

Santa Claus Myth Is Of Norse Origin

Our well-loved legend of Santa Claus coming down the chimney on Christmas Eve originated in the Scandinavian countries. Their Christmas legend is that the Goddess Hertha appears in the fireplace, bringing happiness and good fortune. A jolly old man, representing good fortune, comes down the chimney to meet her.

Santa Claus appears in various costumes throughout the world. However, in most countries, he is a roly-poly old man with a long white beard, usually dressed in red. Sometimes this is a long red coat, worn with a big red hat trimmed with white fur.

In The Netherlands his red robe is that of a Bishop and Sinter Klaus carries a gold scepter and wears a large, jeweled miter on his head, while in other mid-European countries he is dressed in the robes of a priest.

Democratic Chiefs Bow To Women

Philadelphia (AP)—Women-perenially tagged as talkers de luxe—are going to have plenty to say when Democratic party leaders from 11 states get together here Dec. 11-12.

It's no party secret that the Democratic leaders are going our after the housewives' vote, the one given a good deal of credit in election the Republican administration in 1952.

And to do this, the party is clearing its speakers' platforms for the women. As a matter of fact the men won't get into the act until the two-day meeting is well under way.

Officially, the meeting opens the 12th. The first order of business will be a panel discussion on the operations of the United Nations.

Then the distaff side will tackle the problem of campaign organization. The speakers in this phase will break down the subject into state, county and local levels for the benefit of the party faithful. The party will hold a $100-a-plate dinner Saturday night with presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson scheduled to deliver a major address over a national radio and television hookup. Other speakers will include Mayor-elect Robert F. Wagner, Jr. of New York City and Gov.-elect Robert Meyner of New Jersey.

Bayberry candles, which are said to foretell good luck for the coming year if they burn bright at Christmas, were first made by early settlers in America. They dipped bayberry branches in wax and burned them during the holidays.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Aspects suggest some studying, flaw-checking. Don't risk possessions or reputation by lack of forethought or careless words. Don't sign contracts, make loans without close scrutiny.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Use logic. Tread lightly if dealing with superiors, in matters involving money, valuables. Heart and family interests always fare better when handled with consideration, tolerance, honesty.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Do what you must do in the most efficient way possible. Have due esteem for others who are also trying hard and often smartly.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—A number of fine opportunities for you who are wide-awake and eager to get ahead. Get to the core of things. Look for the hidden advantages. Don't jeopardize matters by antagonizing others.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Sound investments, contracts favored. If handled with integrity. Condense plans and actions to gain maximum from endeavors. Shun questionable schemes and persons.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Some worthwhile propositions possible. Make effort "big" in the true sense of the word. Keep personality charming. Concentrate on important issues.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Keen action will pay off. Consider advantages thoughtfully now. Present plans most tractfully. Be aware of your many possibilities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Personal affairs and those pertaining to loved ones highly honored. Don't mind little hurts; more forebearance is in order these days. Give and take qualities make for equality.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Today's aspects favor your better efforts. Do not indulge in hurried or haphazard methods. Have faith and confidence in your ambitions. Be careful of health.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Vibrations favor long-range plans and projects. But don't take anything for granted. Be prepared for the unexpected. You can better records.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Not entirely favorable for activities involving money, law, business contracts. Look for new opportunities possible now.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Curb a tendency to give up or be discouraged. Ups and downs are part of everyone's life; we all have our daily problems. You can solve yours by being your best self.

YOU BORN TODAY have dignity, perception, are straightforward. You also have fortitude, determination, can reach goals despite hardships; should like learning, outdoor life. In this sign are many military leaders, writers, managers, nurses, doctors, scientists, travelers. Don't be irritated at delays; misled by sympathies. Birthdate of: Thomas Carlyle, Scottish essayist, historian; Edith Cavell, nurse-martyr.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figure give you.

Pension Tax Rate To Rise January 1

The social security tax rate for persons whose work counts toward old-age and survivors insurance is scheduled to increase on the first of January, Miss Marie T. Miller, manager of the Easton social security office, reminded employers, employes, and self-employed people yesterday.

This scheduled increase in tax contributions is in accordance with the 1950 amendments to the social security law, and was enacted by Congress in anticipation of future obligations of the program.

Employes in jobs covered by the law will have 2 percent instead of the present 1½ percent deducted from their pay beginning with Jan. 1, up to earnings of $3600 a year; their employers will contribute an equal amount.

The new rates will apply to all taxable wages paid after Dec. 31, 1953, regardless of when earned.

The social security tax for the self-employed is scheduled to increase from the present 2½ percent to 3 percent, for the period commencing Jan. 1, 1954.

Since the self-employed whose work is covered by the law pay their tax just once yearly at the time of filing their Federal income tax return, they will pay the present 2¼ percent social security tax on their 1953 income that counts toward social security. This will be due not later than March 15, 1954.

Their first payments at the increased rate of 3 percent will be due March 15, 1955, for the calendar year 1954.

In the meantime the Internal Revenue Service reports that employers will be furnished late this year with income tax withholding tables and Federal Insurance Contributions Act (social security taxes) tables reflecting rates applicable next year.

The next scheduled increase, six years from now, in 1960, will be to 2½ percent each for employer and employe, and 3¾ percent for the self-employed.

Jerry Strunk In Coast Guard

The Coast Guard Recruiting Office, Philadelphia, announced yesterday that Jerry Sommers Strunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blair N. Strunk, of 515 Oak St., Stroudsburg has enlisted for four years in the USCG and was transferred to the Coast Guard Receiving Center at Cape May, N. J., for basic training.

December 25th was set as the day for observance of Christmas in the sixth century.

Gifts Awarded For Regular Attendance

Cherry Lane—Services at the local Methodist Church on Sunday featured the awarding of Sunday School attendance gifts.

Recipients for ten weeks regular attendance were Stanley Bush, Mary Bush, Laura and Bruce Bush, Gary Smith, Harriet Smith, Mary Ann Smith, Helen Shaffer, Nancy Shaffer, Janet Shaffer, Ellanore Sebring, David Sebring, Evelyn Kane, Thelma Kane and Glenn Kane.

Christmas program of the school will be held on Monday night, Dec. 21. Children and musical directors, Mrs. Emory Shaffer and Mrs. J. A. Hartman, pianist, are rehearsing for the affair. Mrs. Ben Henry has donated boxes for distribution of candy to Sunday school members.

At the church service Sunday afternoon the choir sang two selections and led the hymn singing. Rev. Ralph H. Feltham brought a message on the true meaning of Christmas giving.

The Official Board and Women Workers will hold their annual Christmas party on Dec. 18 at the home of Mrs. Bessie Hauser, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Emory Shaffer. An exchange of gifts will highlight this meeting.

On Dec. 11, the Sunday School members will entertain their parents and friends at the firehouse, when games, music and other forms of entertainment will be featured.

Date Fixed For Mandamus Writ Hearing

Honesdale—Wayne County commissioners this week interviewed Judge Clarence Bodie, president judge of Wayne, in pressing for a hearing on their writ of mandamus against County Treasurer Ruth Spangenberg.

Dec. 21 was set as the date for a hearing on the writ. Judge Edward A. Little will preside at the hearing.

The mandamus writ asks for an order directing Mrs. Spangenberg to conduct her official duties under correct procedure.

According to spokesmen for the commissioners the writ arises from refusal by the treasurer to pay warrants approved by commissioners for payment.

One of the bills which Mrs. Spangenberg has allegedly refused to pay was for services rendered by the firm of Crossman and Greene, Scranton accountants who were called in to check over county books last year.

From reports filed by that firm, county commissioners initiated hearings investigating an alleged mishandling of funds.

Mrs. Spangenberg is now awaiting resumption of trial on charges returned by a Wayne County grand jury. First efforts to conduct the trial were halted by the woman's collapse.

Out-of-town telephoning is a pleasure these days, it's so fast.

But to make certain you get the swiftest possible service, be sure to place your calls by number. Then the operator won't have to detour them through Information in the distant city. And when you remember that millions of out-of-town calls are made each day, you'll see that calling by number can represent a very real contribution toward speeding the nation's Long Distance service.

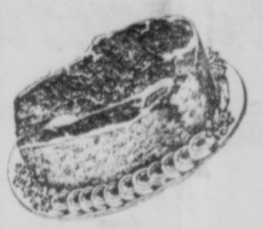

Jot down in your Personal Telephone Directory the numbers of out-of-town telephones you may have occasion to call, and you'll have them right at your finger tips. We'll be pleased to provide you with a free copy of this handy little time-saver. Just ask for one at our Business Office.

When you call by number, your calls go through faster—often twice as fast!

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that the following Ordinance will be presented for adoption by the Supervisors of Smithfield Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, at a meeting to be held December 7, 1953:

"AN ORDINANCE NO. 3
"PROVIDING FOR PARTICIPATION OF CERTAIN EMPLOYEES AND OFFICES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SMITHFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF MONROE AND STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, IN THE PROVISIONS OF THE OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS INSURANCE SYSTEM EMBODIED IN THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AND MAKING AN APPROPRIATION IN CONNECTION THEREWITH

"WHEREAS, the Social Security Act has been so amended by the Congress of the United States as to permit political sub-divisions of the several states to extend to their employees and officers the benefits of Old Age and Survivors Insurance, and

"WHEREAS, it is the opinion of the Supervisors of the Township of Smithfield, in the County of Monroe and State of Pennsylvania, that the extension of the Social Security System to certain employees and officers of said Township will be of great benefit, not only to said employees and officers, but also to said Township by enabling it to attract and retain in its employ competent personnel and thus increase the efficiency of its government, and

"WHEREAS, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has enacted a statute, to wit, the Act of Jan. 5, 1951, No. 491, which is the enabling Act provided for in Section 218 of Public Law 734, 81st Congress, designating the Secretary of Labor and Industry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to act as the "State Agency" to carry out the provisions of said statute providing for the extension of the coverage of the Social Security Act to employees employed by the said Commonwealth and its political subdivisions.

"NOW, THEREFORE, the Supervisors of the said Township of Smithfield ordain:

"SECTION I. That the said Township of Smithfield become a participant in the Social Security System and that the benefits of Old Age and Survivors Insurance under the Social Security Act be extended to its employees and officers designated in the plan hereinafter mentioned.

"SECTION II. That the Chairman and Secretary of the Board of Supervisors be, and they are hereby authorized and directed to execute and deliver on behalf of said Township to the State Agency the plan and agreement required under the provisions of Section 6 of said enabling Act, and the Social Security Act, to extend coverage to the employees and officers of the said Township with the exclusions mentioned therein, and to do all other things necessary to that end. The said plan and agreement shall provide that the participation of said Township shall commence as of the first day of January 1, 1951.

"SECTION III. That the Secretary of the Board of Supervisors be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to establish a system of payroll deductions to be matched by payments by the said Township to be made into the Contribution Fund of the Social Security Act through the office of the State Agency, and to make charges of this tax to the fund, from which wage, salary or other compensation payments are issued to employees and officers of said Township. Such payments shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Law and Regulations promulgated by the State Agency and the Federal Security Administrator. Delinquent payments shall bear interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month until made.

"SECTION IV. That there is hereby appropriated from the proper fund, or funds, of the said Township the amount necessary to be paid into the contribution fund as provided in Section 4 of the aforesaid enabling Act and in accordance with the plan and agreement."

VAN D. YETTER, JR., Secretary
Board of Supervisors
Smithfield Township
RD2, East Stroudsburg, Pa.

AMENDMENT OF CHARTER

Notice is hereby given that Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of Pocono Gardens Lodge, Inc., a Pennsylvania business corporation with its registered office located at Cresco, Paradise Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, will be filed with the Department of State of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on Friday, December 11, 1953, pursuant to the provisions of the Business Corporation Law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved May 5, 1933, as amended. The nature and character of the proposed amendment: To increase the authorized capital stock of the corporation from $24,000.00 to $75,000.00.

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that the following Ordinance will be presented for adoption by the Supervisors of Smithfield Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, at a meeting to be held December 7, 1953:

"AN ORDINANCE NO. 2
"LAYING OUT, ESTABLISHING AND OPENING A PUBLIC ROAD WHOLLY WITHIN THE TOWNSHIP OF SMITHFIELD, COUNTY OF MONROE AND STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

"WHEREAS all of the property owners through whose lands said proposed road is to be laid out, established and opened, or who abut thereon, have petitioned the Supervisors of Smithfield Township aforesaid to lay out, establish and open, by ordinance, a public road lying entirely within said Township as herein described,

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED AND ENACTED by the Supervisors of Smithfield Township aforesaid, that it is hereby ORDAINED and ENACTED by the authority of the same:

"SECTION I. Pursuant to the petition aforesaid, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto, made part hereof, and marked Exhibit A, there is hereby laid out, established and opened in the aforesaid Township of Smithfield, a public road described as follows, viz:

"BEGINNING at Station 0 plus 00 at the intersection of the center line of Township Route #534 with the center line of Township Route #536, from which the intersection of the center line of said Township Route #534 with the center line of Interstate Highway U.S. #167 is distant one and one-tenth miles in a southerly direction; thence along the center line of the proposed public road and through lands of Hattie Dougherty, James H. Custard and Frank M. Custard, Jr., on the North and lands of H. C. Smith, Aaron Smith, Jacques H. Meyers, Charles Degen and Frank M. Custard, Jr., on the South (Bearings from Magnetic Meridian of 1952) North seventy eight degrees forty six minutes East seven hundred fifty and six-tenths feet to an angle point at Station 7 plus 50.6; thence along the same, and by lands of Frank M. Custard, Jr., and Clinton W. Custard on the North and Lands of Frank M. Custard, Jr., and Clinton W. Custard on the South North seventy nine degrees fifty six minutes East two hundred seventy four feet to Station 10 plus 24.6.

"The above described road shall have a uniform width of 33.5 feet on each side of the above described center line.

"SECTION II. The Township Solicitor is authorized and directed to file a certified copy of this Ordinance and a draft of said road in the Office of the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions of Monroe County aforesaid.

"SECTION III. All Ordinances, or parts of Ordinances, inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed."

The draft of said road referred to in said Ordinance may be examined at the office of the undersigned during the usual business hours.

AUCTION SALES 23

Executors Public Sale of Valuable Real Estate on Paradise Trail and Gravel Place Road in Stroud Township near East Stroudsburg Boro Line.

To settle estate of Jennie M. McClintic, Dec'd. This property has changed ownership only once in 100 years. Auction on premises

Sat., Dec. 5, 1953, 2 P.M.

TRACT I—Homestead property with app. 300 ft. frontage and a depth of 450 ft. facing Gravel Place highway 45000. Improved by large frame dwelling, containing 12 rooms with elec. light, bath and hot water heat. Also barn and other outbuildings.

TRACT II—A building or home site, 450 ft. x 400 ft., adjoining the first tract.

TRACT III—Building lot opposite Learn Store and Service Station and adjoining Robert Hartman Estate 100 ft. front on Route 190, Paradise Trail, and 165 ft. deep.

TRACT IV—Irregular piece of land containing approx. 16 acres in rear of existing homes on Paradise Trail, with access to highway over a 40 ft. deeded right of way.

This tract is timbered and rolling and would make an excellent lot development.

TRACT V—Sand and gravel pit, with 660 ft. frontage on Paradise Trail, containing approximately 8 acres.

TRACT VI—Tract extending from homestead tract to D. L. & W. R. R. property 2831 ft. frontage on Gravel Place Road. Level land approximately 21 acres. Potential possibilities with adj. land along railroad for an industrial plant, and road frontage for lot development. Also excellent land in shape for market garden purposes, adjoining the Borough of East Stroudsburg.

Tracts will be offered and sold as separate parcels.

TERMS: 1/3 of purchase price on day of sale. Balance on delivery of deed in 30 days.

PICK A PRESENT

Outdoor Decorations Grow In Popularity Each Year

More homes than ever before will shine through the coming nights of the Yule season this year, brilliantly illuminated with exterior Christmas decorations.

That this prediction is infallibly accurate is indicated by two simple facts.

First, there are more privately owned homes in the country than ever before; and second, the trend toward exterior illumination for the holiday season has been constantly upward ever since the blackouts of World War II became a thing of the past.

Literally hundreds of thousands of home owners who have observed this characteristically American tradition in the past, already are equipped with basic requirements in terms of lengths of waterproofed outdoor wiring, a few floodlights and even some decorative gadgets.

They, for the most part, are ready, with the addition of some replacement lights and wiring and some of the newer illuminated decorations now available on the market, to plan this year's exterior home illumination.

Hundreds of thousands of others — new home owners—will be starting from scratch to vie with more experienced householders in the creation of most effective displays.

Generally speaking, basic designs for exterior illuminated Christmas time decoration for the home start with the architectural and landscaping features of the property.

Windows, with interior lighting shining through them, also should be taken into consideration. The doorway can frequently be the focal point, for here is the actual point of welcoming friends.

The widespread new vogue for ranch type houses and homes of "modern" design, promise exciting new interpretations of Christmas lighting for whole neighborhoods this year.

If this is the first time the home owner is planning to illuminate the exterior for the Yule season, there are a few points to be borne in mind.

Indoor light and wiring should never be used outdoors. Short circuits may be caused by wet weather. Weatherproof wiring, bulbs and sockets are available for this purpose and can be used again and again.

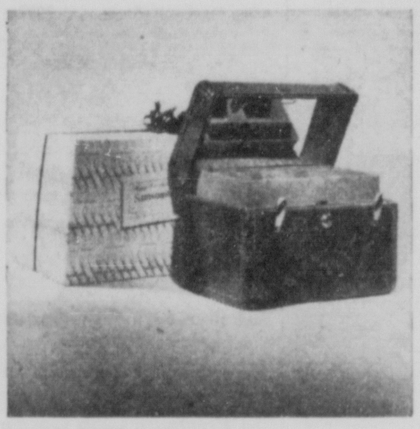

Outdoor Christmas lighting usually requires more wattage than the indoor variety. A check to the electrician is recommended for safety and best results.

Complete sets of wiring for exterior illumination of the home at Christmas time are available. They can be arranged to any design the houseowner wishes. Best of all these new sets come equipped with safety fuse plugs to prevent overloads.

The topmost ornament on a Christmas tree is called a gipfel.
